

In the long haul of wedlock, it's not the physical beauty of either sex that welds the marriage bond into enduring strength—for time takes care of outward appearances. Instead, it's the outward evidence of kindly, tender, loving inner thoughts that makes of wedlock a beautiful human experience . . . and let it not be forgotten, too, that material possessions only play a minor part in real happiness.

SECTION D

'Just Wait Till Tomorrow'

Tomorrow can't come soon enough for 10-year-old John Schaffer, who thinks big when it comes to chemistry. John, the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Schaffer, 211 Aspen, could hardly wait to graduate from "kiddie" chemistry sets (of which he tired long ago) to something closer to the adult level. He got his first real chemistry set last Christmas. The gift was supplemented by a grant of equipment from a friend who is working on a doctorate in chemistry.

Within the limitations placed on a 10-year-old chemist, John experiments fairly extensively in a home laboratory that he keeps locked for the protection of his four-year-old sister. He is scheduled to put on a demonstration for his fifth-grade classmates at Baldwin school. The young chemist reads every book on chemistry that he can get—preparing for the day when parental restrictions are lifted, when he can broaden the scope of his work.

'Vaarooooom!!'

Cub scouts Steve Stouffer (left) and Douglas Brown and Cubmaster Richard Dintaman (center) watch two cars fly down the wooden track in Pack B-14's annual "Pine-board Derby." The miniature races with miniature cars on a diminutive sloping track were run-off at Eastover school one Saturday morning recently. Fastest in the pack was Bob Juk. Runner-up was Peter Young.

Cindy Price goes into a spin over rehearsals for the "Skaters Holiday" ice show, presented Feb. 21 at the Eton Park skating rink.

Look Familiar?

Cub Scouts Craig Sutherland (left) and Clint Meyer admire a model totem-pole at Pack B-24's recent blue and gold banquet at Beverly school. Cubs, in addition to receiving awards and badges, were entertained by Indian artist Fred C. Copp.

'Easy,' Deefecult'

Ventriloquist-magician Harold Sterling had no trouble capturing the attention of cub scouts of Pack B-37, of St. Hugo of the Hills, Bloomfield Hills. He staged his show at the pack's annual blue and gold, father-and-son banquet at Devon Gables last week. Scouting activities here and elsewhere continue at an accelerated pace during scouting's 50th birthday year.

Jack Deo showed cool confidence on the Eton ice as he prepared for the show. The weather was much better for rehearsals than for the show Sunday night. Heavy snow hampered the presentation and started to drive spectators out of the stands about half-way through the program, but the show went on white the snow came down. For actual snow-show pictures, see page 7-E.

Artist Meets Critic

Celebrated sculptor Marshall Fredericks, of Bloomfield Hills, gives fifth-grader Amy Burleigh professional criticism on his work. Fredericks gave Quarton school 100 lbs. of imported Italian clay for teacher Jean McCullough's art class. The students didn't let the gift go to waste; converted an empty room into a studio, and went to work on a sculpturing project. Fredericks came to the school to take a professional look at the children's efforts.

The first cream peroxide for hair

Helena Rubinstein's Special Cream Peroxide
So rich! So luscious . . . and better for your hair!

Something wonderful happened to peroxide, and Helena Rubinstein made it happen. It took the first lady of beauty science, world renowned for her superb skin creams, to come up with the first cream peroxide! New Special Cream Peroxide!

How luscious! And how different this rich cream makes your hair feel. The silkiness! The softness! Special Cream Peroxide actually helps prevent hair from drying—even in strong sun or harsh winds!

You'll love the difference the minute you see the results! Use Special Cream Peroxide alone for a softer, blonder look you've never before known in any peroxide. Use it with any tint or bleach, if you wish, for a softer, silkier finish. With Helena Rubinstein's new Crowning Color Cream Hair Tint or Turn Light Cream Hair Lightener you'll get double conditioning action, double lustre, double softness.

You'll notice the difference the minute you open the bottle. Special Cream Peroxide is a rich, ivory colored cream that won't run or drip as ordinary peroxides do. The thick cream base has a luxurious conditioning action.

You'll feel the difference the minute it touches your hair.

Next time ask for Helena Rubinstein's Special Cream Peroxide. You'll never use any other peroxide again. Only 1.00 plus tax at your favorite cosmetic counter!

You'll even hear the difference! Because of its unique stability, Special Cream Peroxide (20 volume Peroxide) can be stored and used again. Notice the top doesn't "pop" when the bottle is opened.
