A 'Wedding' in Steel

Watching the "wedding" of a new Plymouth automobile body, being lowered, to meet the motor-born chassis, coming up from below, at the recently completed Chrysler multi-million dollar remodeled plant in Detroit, are, from left to right, Jack E. Charipar, Plymouth chief engineer, of 3561 Northdale, Bloomfield Hills; Jack W. Minor, Plymouth director of marketing, 1536 Dorchester, Birmingham; George R. Averill, publisher of The Eccentric; and Louis T. Hageopian, 577 Puritan, Birmingham, Plymouth director of advertising. According to Harry B. Chesebrough, 471 Dunston Rd., Bloomfield Hills, general manager of Plymouth-Desoto-Valiant Division of Chrysler Corp., the remodeled plant is the most modern and efficient of its kind in the entire auto industry. New Plymouths come off the line at the rate of one every 45 seconds. Communications media men from all over the U.S. were guests at the Plymouth plant ten days ago.

Bits of Birmingham

Other day, Birmingham City Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham went by Springdale park to see how its new service buildings are progressing. He found that the park gate was locked. The park gate was locked, Ingraham remarked, "and it was cold as blazes. Must have been about 10 degrees. Yet several people had climbed the fence and were holding a picnic at a nearby table."

Otto F. Beier, 910 Riverchase, and F. W. "Duke" Dubois, 303 Baldwin, are two Birmingham ninjas who generally hunt Michigan deer. Last November, each managed to insure the family larder of an ample supply of 1959 venison—and for proof each can show a colored picture of his success in the woods. As a matter-of-fact, a first look at the picture caused this Wanderer to remark to Otto, "Looks like you and Duke are a-straddle the animals, maybe down at the Detroit zoo." For both men had placed the frozen deer in upright positions, then straddled 'em.

A little sticker someone had affixed to the rear window of a station wagon parked on Pierce street recently: "Thanks for taking two parking spaces. Because of you, I had to park two blocks away—you stupid, inconsiderate moron."

Construction of Detroit's Ethel Ford expressway began in January 1947 and the first section of roadway was opened to traffic July 9, 1950.
