

BITS OF BIRMINGHAM

Dr. W. Glen Harris of the First Presbyterian church and Dr. Arnold P. Runkel of the First Baptist church will speak at churches Feb. 7. They will give sermons as guest speakers of each other's church.

A 60-ton shipment of some 77 bells, part of the world's largest cast-iron shipment, arrived in New York Monday. Destination is the Hills, where the bells will be installed in the 187-foot church tower. It is the gift of an anonymous patron.

When you're a municipal official, you never can anticipate the number of "hats" you'll be wearing on your job. Take Birmingham Mayor Grover E. Whinnery, for instance. He's also the city's highway administrator—a high-sounding title that's responsible for contacts with the state highway department regarding gas and weight tax returns. Then there's deputy Birmingham city defense director (Army and Navy) which he was handed another title—sewer system coordinator. That's because all future Birmingham sewer plans must go through his office and to the state health department for approval.

Considerable grief was expressed on the face of a Birmingham restaurant waiter one day this week. He was, it was learned, his order, blandly said: "I'd like a tomato sandwich, an apple pie, a French fried corn flakes and—oh, yes—please add two open faced fried eggs, one to be fried on one side and the other on the other." It took a minute and a smile from the waiter to make the Birmingham waiter's request was made in jest.

Who did you know that the Duane St. West Hartford man, who died in a plane crash last week, is the Bob Steiner who lived in Birmingham during World War II? The Steiner and his three sons and a daughter lived in Kenosha for about six years. He was on the Capital Airlines plane which crashed with 60 aboard Sunday night in 1947.

Someone who is a little late last week she's a pretty brunette, she's wearing a street length wedding gown, and she is also doing 50 m.p.h. the passing distance would be doubled.

Remember that snooty chauffeur who said he saw the driver who he saw last week? Well, this people has a relative who's one of the editors. We quote: "In re your column in last week's 'Wanderer' column, it was grossly inaccurate. This people happens to be my brother and he is exceedingly upset at being called snooty-looking and, even worse, a woman. If ever there was a snooty-looking man, it is my brother. He loves EVERYBODY." Almatian, delivery of the greatest joy is to go with the boys for a day. He's a snooty-looking man for the be-jeweled collar you mention, it's just a steady old leather jacket. Let's have more accurate reporting, please! (Signed) S. POODLE

Another editorial I have been meaning to comment upon in the Dec. 17, 1959, issue. That editorial on the propaganda being intended behind the Russian cultural exchanges was another excellent piece of factual reporting on the true nature of the Communist conspiracy against our freedom. It was written by the Communist. Many "thinking" people are not only ignorant of the purpose of any and all Russian visitors and delegations to this country, but they are also ignorant of the fact that the Communist is not only a danger to our country, but also a danger to our freedom.

When passing a car on a street or highway, motorists have no such sight distance guides. In the city, a safe sight distance is usually followed by the driver who keeps passing everything ahead of him is true in step with traffic. On a crowded highway, such a mis-step can be fatal.

Michigan traffic laws specifically prohibit passing at railroad crossings, on curves and on hills. To enable motorists to recognize the dangerous situations, Michigan has made extensive use of signs at such locations and has placed a yellow line on the side of the road, it means "do not pass here, your sight distance is not long enough."

The Helped and the Helper

Mrs. Harvey C. Swift, 875 Stanley, Birmingham, receives an assist in the Mother's March from a young lady who will be helping hundreds of mothers in Oakland county. Bobbie Lu McClure, 5, of Royal Oak, the Oakland county poster girl for this year's March of Dimes, will be helped, along with hundreds of others here by the march. Mothers will unite in their traditional march, Thursday evening, Feb. 28. If the drive reaches its national goal of $65,000,000, patient aid will be given to victims under 19 years of age of some birth defects and arthritis. Oakland county's share of the goal is $178,000.

Making Passes Spells Trouble on Hiway, Too

Back in the 1920's, Dorothy Parker wrote in ironic doggerel: "Men never make passes. At girls who wear glasses." Contact lenses and fashionable frames are credited with easing the difficulties of the modern man. But so far, no one has invented a gadget to relieve the stress and strain of driving. If ANOTHER CAR is coming from the opposite direction, the passing driver will require still more clear sight distance, and space, because the approaching car is also entering up distance. If the approaching car is also doing 50 m.p.h., the passing distance would be doubled.

Someone who is a little late last week she's a pretty brunette, she's wearing a street length wedding gown, and she is also doing 50 m.p.h. the passing distance would be doubled.
