Talked their way to Championship

Maple debaters walked away from the last meet of the northern division last Thursday with the championship. The teams had a very successful afternoon.

In the first rounds against Southfield they won two out of four. The wins were on the varsity affirmative and the reserve negative.

In the second round against Country Day the wins were on the varsity negative and the reserve negative.

The debates were the payoff of a hectic week in the debate department. All through the week there were new questions brought up—"what should I do if they attack us in this manner, or what does this mean?"

By Wednesday night there were few people on the teams that had any feeling left. Most of them were walking in a daze. But, the next day things looked pretty good.

The varsity team went to Troy high school, and the reserve team went to Baker Junior High.

The next step is the taking of the Northern - Southern division championship.

The team this year included the following: reserve negative (the only undefeated team, and they'll tell you too)—Terry Charbonnet and Bill Shipley; varsity affirmative—Chuck Darling and Bill Ellis; varsity negative—Helen Altman and Barb Koeh; and last but not least, reserve affirmative—

Lorraine Shafer, and Yours Truly, Bill Mitchell.

Elsewhere in the school this week other things were happening. Proccenium club, for instance, went to see "West Side Story" on Tuesday night. This was a good trick for some of the debaters who left Troy high school about fifteen minutes earlier.

Most of the members enjoyed the show immensely. However, this person thought that it wasn't as good as it was supposed to be. Nice music and choreography, but that's about it.

However, the Proccenium members got home in time to start burning the midnight oil for Friday's tests.

The Biology club is opening wide its doors to new members. The club, supervised by Miss Pasley, has been much more active than last year.

It has made great progress with the school greenhouse—in ruins at the beginning of the year, converting it into a botanical garden. The requirements to join are that the student must have been enrolled in the course, or is presently enrolled.

Complimentary, a club for students who like to view plays, symphonies, etc., recently went to the Rubenstein concert in the Ford auditorium.

In fact, the whole school has been hit with theatrical performances. Spanish club is going to see Jose Greco.

It Must Be The Climate

Southfield high, which has had its share of beauty queens in recent months, has nominated another.

Marcia Lawton, Southfield's 1958 Homecoming Queen, has been selected to represent the school in the annual Michigan Junior Miss contest.

SPONSORED BY the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, the contest is restricted to high school seniors between the ages of 16-19.

Recent winners of beauty queen awards from Southfield were Miss Sue Westergaard, '57, last year's Miss Michigan, and Miss Susan Doem, '59, last year's Miss South Oakland county.

State winner of the Junior Miss contest will be flown to Mobile, Ala., the week of March 28 to represent Michigan in the American Junior Miss pageant, where girls will compete for more than $10,000 in cash scholarships.

Marcia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Lawton, 17148 Melrose, Southfield.
