

That's What Extra Work'll Do for You

HANOVER, N. H. — A Dartmouth college junior from Birmingham, has been cited by a music instructor for outstanding academic achievement.

Harry P. Altick, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Altick of 1018 Kennewaw, was commended by Mr. Louis M. Gill, Jr. for "an inquiring and creative mind" which took "exceptional interest in doing extra work."

In a letter from Thaddeus Seymour, dean of the college, Altick was told faculty citations are extremely rare and that they are made a part of the college's permanent records.

All Set for Stiff Exams

PURCHASE, N. Y. — Stiff college entrance requirements pay off. Figures to prove it, released this week at Manhattanville college of the Sacred Heart, liberal arts college for women should considerably brighten the grim words, "mid-year exams," for 717 students including four from Birmingham.

Seven of every ten Manhattanville freshmen and sophomores were in the highest quartile of their high school graduating classes.

Among the Manhattanville students taking exams this week on the suburban New York campus in subjects ranging from advanced calculus to Russian conversation, and from Christian marriage to economic statistics, are Patricia Anne Sullivan, 61, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Sullivan, 759 Woodlake road; Geraldine Mirgeler, 32, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mirgeler, 1128 Chesterfield road; Sharon Finnie, 63, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Finnie, 1079 Pilgrim and Annette De Lorenzo, 63, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony G. De Lorenzo, 3280 Broadway boulevard.

GLOXINIA (Sinningia)

These tubers produce the showiest of tender, shading summer flowers. The great velvety leaves simulate the texture of giant Saintpaulia foliage, the large bell shaped flowers of violet, purple, salmon, rose, red, white and some two-color combinations are startlingly beautiful.

The plants are tender and are generally grown in a window, sun porch or greenhouse where the night temperature never drops below 60°.

The Begonias and Gloxinias do produce an exquisite and broad range of color and form for indoor and outdoor use and have the added advantage of preferring a considerable amount of shade—especially from the hot midday sun.

They are very dressy summer bloomers.
