Yours in a Special Savings Account at National Bank of Detroit. All the big things people save for—homes, cars, vacations, their retirement years (and you could name a dozen more)—are certainly good reasons to save.

But another excellent reason, we think, is so you can get more "right now" fun out of life, so you can quit worrying about every nickel you spend on the day-to-day things you and your family enjoy.

The plan is easy enough: You split each pay check into three parts. Part One, you use to build up a reserve fund for the security of yourself and your family... to help you meet emergencies and take advantage of opportunities. Part Two, you budget for all normal living expenses. And Part Three, you set aside for fun!

The hard part is getting started on the plan and sticking to it. But any of the 66 National Bank of Detroit offices will be glad to help you build your reserve fund, show you how it can earn 3% interest in one of our special savings accounts. When can we get started? This week?
