

Some one has truthfully stated: "The government that promises to take away from them more than enough of their money to pay for everything." In brief, when one depends upon government to bring him "economic security", one is destined to pay for this "gift" with the precious coin of freedom. One thus loses his self-reliance, his divine dignity.

Junior High Students Get Jr. Honors

By the Press Club

The Barnum chapter of the National Junior Honor Society held its annual assembly May 26. Activities were directed and planned by the 1960 members of the society.

Eileen Webster introduced the speakers. The Laula gave the history of the society. Talks on the five requirements for membership, leadership, citizenship, scholarship, service, and character followed by John McCullough, Tom Van Doren, Pat Wyatt, Kathy Kistner, and Bill Ives, respectively.

The roster of new members was then presented.

The ninth-graders elected to membership were: Michael Flynn, Judith Frey, Brooke Hinkley, Wayne Moore, Janet Morley, Merrill Penn, Terry Schaefer, Kathleen Thompson and Edward Weller.

The eighth-graders named were Marianne Gail, Pamela Horman, able direction of Miss Evelyn Micheletti, the girls took first division at the honors festival at Walled Lake junior high school.

The glee club was heard again at the Barnum spring concert, May 26. All vocal groups took part in the concert which was directed by Miss Evelyn Micheletti and Mr. William Seebach.

Highlights included the singing of Margaret Evans, soprano soloist, and the ninth-grade girls' glee club sextette. Mary Bette Keyser and her decoration committee carried out the spring theme through the courtesy of Parmenter florists.

Play day was an outstanding day to the 21 girls from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, who went to Plymouth junior high school, May 21. Girls from Ben Franklin school in Wayne also participated. New and old games were enjoyed by all the girls.

The band and orchestra annual "Swim and Swing" party will be on June 3.

This party is sponsored by the parents of the members of Band I and II and the parents of the members of the orchestra. Awards to some of the ninth-grade members of these organizations will be announced at the party.

The History They Read Is Brand New

By BECKI BROGAN

As the school year draws to a close, everyone is seeking to preserve all the fun and pleasant memories along with the necessary work in a green and white covered book.

The book? Our first yearbook entitled Lancer. It has been under construction since the beginning of school and the group did an exceptional job—one that other classes will have a tough time surpassing.

John Soroka was editor and Ruth Clevers was the assistant editor. Everyone who worked on it deserves an acknowledgment of their outstanding achievement.

The cover was designed by Vicki Saxauer and features silhouettes of lancers and the title "Lancer" across the bottom.

Inside are pictures of students and faculty. People who were active in clubs and sports are pictuured with their various activities. Crazy snapshots and of course, space for autographs make up the rest of the book. Altogether the Lancer is an accurate record of activities and friends to stimulate your memory on a future date.

Hills Junior High.

The actors and actresses received pins for their time and ability. Movies were shown and it was a memorable occasion for all involved.

Attend Workshop

John Gillespie, president of the Southfield student council for next year, will attend a student council workshop at the University of Michigan in August. The new vice president, Judy Parker, will also be present.

The Beginning and the End

The Shining Bluebirds, sponsored by the Pembroke PTA, have both finished and started something. They finished their conservation project when they planted this maple tree. Pembroke school. And planting a tree, of course, is just the start of something. The local girls washed dishes, did housework and sold candy to finance the buying of the tree, so they could take part in the comp fire girls' national project—conservation. Behind the girls and the tree are Mrs. John Gregersen, 2623 Buckingham, of the Pembroke PTA, and Rupert Wells, principal of Pembroke.

of things to cook

The shape of the steak, or the duck, or the chicken, or the roast is as important as its quality, when cooking on a grill or rotisserie. Take a leg of lamb or pork shoulder; we bone it and roll it to a shape somewhat more slender than for indoor cookery. Result: it's easier and quicker to roast. The same principle is used by our master butchers for all meats and fowl prepared for the outdoor chef.

ALL-BEEF GROUND BEEF . . . Top-quality shoulder beef, without excess fat, ground especially for deluxe sandwiches or dinner patties. Also delicious for meat loaf and spaghetti meat balls; inexpensive, too!

BREADED PORK CHOPS
There's only enough sirloin of pork in one pig to make six of these luscious taste-treats. Each chop is folded over (what we do next in our secret) and covered with toasted bread crumbs. They're so tender, you cut 'em with a fork!

STUFFED PORK CHOPS
Extra large, choice chops, with excess fat trimmed off, stuffed with our own exotic sage dressing, and rolled in our famous toasted bread crumbs. When baked the flavor of the herbs permeates the chops.
