THE BILLBOARD

BLOOMFIELD HILLS HIGH

By Mike Zweig

Teens Prove a Point

Two weeks ago the students of BHHS proved a very important but oft-forgotten thing—that kids, when given the opportunity and real responsibility can and do perform as well as efficiently.

As a joint venture of all clubs, the students took it upon themselves to sponsor a car-wash and bottle-raid for the school. The total profit realized in one day of genuine effort exceeded $70. I purposely make it known that we kids will work and handle responsibility of we have the honest opportunity.

Great credit goes to the many people who contributed time and effort to prove this point. Nothing has "happened" to the younger generation.

Another case in point to show honest initiative from the students is the Hi-Y, organized solely by us "kids". Since no parent action was forthcoming to provide the long needed organized recreation, we took our own constructive action.

I am now proud to report that the organization has survived the difficult first months and has insured a substantial membership for next year.

Next year's officers were just elected. They are: Mark Miller, president; Jerry Bergmoser, vice-president; Jim Simpson, secretary; Fred Jaynes, treasurer; Bill Merrill, chaplain; Bill Pettkone, sergeant-at-arms. Good luck to you gentlemen and may you carry the precedented fine achievements even further.

I must also add thanks to the parent advisers who did take enough interest in us as a group. They have been wonderful, and we have not let them down.

Here and there the book club met again last Thursday to view and later discuss the film "The Midgets".

We met at the home of the club sponsor, Mr. Derick. Incidentally, the Book club arose this year as the direct result of student initiative.

The annual Sports Award assembly was staged last week. All members of spring sports were recognized and presented with letters or other appropriate awards. Cheers to them.

The seniors finally realized the long-awaited, sanctioned skip-day. We all spent a sunny day at Camp Dearborn, where many hours were spent swimming, sunning, and playing various games. It was difficult to get back to work, and many never quite made it.

Kingswood Column

The hard work of examination ended today and now begin the lighter activities which will continue until commencement day, Saturday.

The seniors are the biggest and liveliest participants in the activities, although they view their finest event with mixed emotions.

This evening is the Cranbrook Commencement dance. Following this, there will be a party for all the Juniors and seniors at the dance at the home of the Harold Weeklers.

Friday is traditionally known as Class day. The day begins with the Faculty-Senior breakfast given by the faculty in honor of the classes of 1910 and 1960.

After the breakfast before the entire school the seniors present skits portraying typical school scenes and also will and bequeath their properties and titles to those remaining. The "Woodwards" are then distributed.

The Junior-Senior banquet precedes the Kingswood Commencement dance.

At this final dinner the juniors honor the senior class. The mistress of ceremonies is Sarah Maxwell. Junior speakers will be class president Betsy Barbour and Susan Burns, senior speakers will be class president Jo Joy, Baabtra Beier and Rita MacGregor.

The dance itself with a fountain theme of green, yellow and white, will revolve around the music of Carlos Rivera and his band. Responsible for the management are general chairman Jane Miley; chairman of invitations, Elizabeth Roediger; decorations, Lucinda Higgins; refreshments, Judith Rude; and the floor committee: Sara Barbour and Sally Fead.

The George Russell will have a senior class party following the dance.

On Kingswood day last Friday the athletic awards were presented. The athletic sportsmanship trophies were awarded to Catherine Gillen (7-8), Emily Godshak (9-

Marian Hi Archbishop Dedicated This School

By CAROL JURICA

Marian high school was formally blessed and dedicated recently by His Excellency, the Most Reverend John F. Dearden, D. D., Archbishop of Detroit.

Nuns and priests from many parishes and schools were invited to this important affair, which began at 9:30 a.m.

The Marian choir, consisting of all freshmen, accompanied the archbishop and his assistants as they blessed the entire school.

Following the blessing, everyone gathered in the auditorium and the archbishop administered solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Fr. Gray, the chaplain of the high school, gave the thought of the day, and the archbishop delivered an inspiring sermon to complete the ceremonies.

A buffet-luncheon followed. Sr. E. Greary, the chaplain of the high school, gave the thought of the day, and the archbishop delivered an inspiring sermon to complete the ceremonies.

Dorothy and her home economics day of school for Marian. Final students made this part of the examinations are taking place this day a success. "Marian III" would like to take this opportunity to say—"Good-bye for this semester; happy vacation, and we'll see you in September". Friday, June 10, will be the final
