

Picture of a Poet

Mrs. William C. Newberg, chairman of the Carl Sandburg committee for the Birmingham arts festival, holds a picture of the poet, historian who will headline the third annual festival. He will star in "An Evening with Carl Sandburg" at the Cranbrook amphitheater June 19.

Giant

(Continued from Page 4)

most of "Remembrance Rock", his first novel, published in 1946.

MORE RECENT high spots on the trail have been:—The Pulitzer Prize for poetry, awarded for his "Complete Poems" in 1951.

—The American Academy of Arts and Letters awarded Sandburg the Gold Medal for history and biography in 1952.

—The Poetry society of America awarded its gold medal for distinguished achievement in January, 1953.

—"Always the Young Strangers"—the story of his life in the small town in which he was born, of his family, friends and neighbors—was published on his 75th birthday.

And now, from our point of view there's another high spot — the trail brings the giant to our streets.

Paintings by

Laura Cowman

Will Be Exhibited During
Birmingham Art Festival Week

at

LEWIS
fine furniture

235 Pierce St.

Paintings by

Dan Stewart

Will Be Exhibited During
Birmingham Art Festival Week

at

RB SHOPS
Fashion leaders for 30 years
142 W. Maple, B'ham