

The Birmingham Eccentric

BIRMINGHAM, MICHIGAN

Thursday, March 17, 1960

It often has been stated that there's only one place on earth where one can find financial security—which is living inside one's income. The temptations to spend more than one earns may, at first, appear to be trifling hurdles. Yet, like becoming addicted to any habit, acquiring a taste for things beyond one's pay envelope results in unwanted, but inevitable unhappiness.

Marian Hi They Honor Principal on Feast Day

By CAROL JURICA
Monday, March 7, was the feast day of St. Thomas Aquinas, the renowned Catholic theologian-philosopher. Since our principal, Mother Thomas Aquinas chose to take his name, we honored her on this day.
A brief program was held in the entrance of the school, by the faculty, in which the students sang to their principal and presented Mother er Aquinas with a spiritual bouquet and a calendar-clock or perpetual calendar.

The clock was bought by the students for the school vestibule, and now holds a prominent place on the wall near the office.
Sr. Mary Aquinas, Marian's history and speech teacher was also honored Monday by the girls in her home room—III. Since room III lost the magazine drive, thereby losing the claim to the drive mascot, a floppy-eared stuffed dog, the girls in III chipped in to buy room III's own mascot.

More gaiety was added to the day, when Mother Thomas Aquinas announced that there would be no school on Tuesday, March 15. This announcement brought an applause from the girls, who immediately began planning what they would do with this much-anticipated free day.

FOR AND ABOUT TODAY'S YOUTH

Barnum JHS Spirits in Tea? Or Is There a Demon in Room?

BY THE PRESS CLUB

The ninth-grade production, "The Haunted Tea Room," a comedy-mystery, will be presented March 17, in the auditorium. The cast will include: Audrey McMin as Linda Berry, Linn Wild as Lottie Perry, Charles Sutherland as Dan Smith, Randy Harber as Horace Witherspoon, Bob Bailey as Snoopy Crone, Claudia Kesler and Lucina Coonan as Claire Landon, Tom Griffiths as Gerald Fenwick, Brooke Hinckley as Jesse Jones, and Kathy Torrence as Josephine Boggs.

The student directors are Pat Rouse, Merrill Penn, Erin Newhouse, and Janet Morley.
The plot concerns a group of teenagers trapped in a haunted tea room during a thunder storm. The Barnum orchestra will play at the production under the direction of Dale Bartlett.
A large number of Barnum orchestra members will participate in the annual spring concert at Seaholm high school, April 1.
Track season will be one of the better events this year for Barnum Junior. It has been blessed with some of the fastest runners and best distance runners in the school's history. This year the boys will be competing with Clawson, Rochester, Bloomfield Hills, Deuby, Groves, and Berkeley Norap.

A promising group of boys showed up at the first track meeting, and we are hoping that they do come out all right.
Our annual variety show is under way! The first student meeting was an excellent success. Troupes were held for a week under the direction of William Seaback of Barnum's music department.
This year the faculty is helping full force. Mrs. Aria Brekkes is Got a 'Match'?

Starring in the Proscenium winter play "The Matchmaker" are the above three four act comedy. The play will be produced three nights, March 17, 18 and 19 in the Seaholm high school Little theater. Cindy Starr-Black (left), shows surprise as Becky our "behind the scenes" director. Miss Lillian Clawson and Mrs. Faye Geyman are heading the art work and hairdressing with props. Miss Jane Ward is business manager.

Dick Larila and Brooke Hinckley are student theme poet and dialogue director. A public performance will be held early in May.
Nancy Kinnison and Susan Knopf, both eighth graders, carried first and second place respectively in the school spelling bee last week.

Time to Make Plans For Good Juniorhood

By SHERRY VASKO

Groves had its first Schedule assembly of the year, March 7. All tenth-graders were present and listened to the following speakers: Principal Kenneth Nagley, Assistant Principal Mr. Gollher, and counselors Miss Lewis, Mr. Baty and Mr. Heaton.

All tenth-grade students were handed a schedule blank, tentative four year plan sheet and a sheet with all the elective courses.
All sophomores are required to take English, U. S. History, and Gym, in their junior year.
The students may then elect three of their own choices. All schedules are to be signed by parents which makes them final. No schedules will be changed at the beginning of the new school year.
All tenth graders recently saw the movie Julius Caesar. Mrs. Peters and Mr. Steslicki tenth-grade classes are studying the story of Julius Caesar. This movie was very interesting and well liked by all who attended.
All auditions for the coming April variety show were finished with 4.
There will be tryouts throughout the next few days, to decide which sixty show of Groves high school.

Miss Daniel's tenth-grade, sixth-hour clothing class has found a girl made the same blouse but decorated it to her own taste.
The blouse was judged by Mrs. Weston on the techniques shown on the blouse and also the trim.
Beth Donaldson, our winner, decorated her blouse with Pennsylvania Dutch printed trim. Runners-up were Marilyn Brown, and Carol Passingham.
The winner of the Groves spelling bee is Steve Loupe, and runner-up, Carol Gaskins.
Steve will represent our school in the all school meet. He will receive a Webster's dictionary with his name inscribed in gold letters. The winning word was HYPOTHESIS.

THE BILLBOARD

BLOOMFIELD HILLS HIGH By Mike Zweig

Tendrom Must Be Popular

The Bloomfield Hills Teen club has been busy again. Area students spent last Saturday evening dancing at the junior high school.
The club, which includes many boys and girls from BHHS, and Cranbrook, sponsors regularly scheduled dances for its members.

The membership increases with every function, and over two hundred are now included.
It was organized by students from the high school and is an outgrowth of the H.Y. Police chief's idea. He had a great idea, and the students thank him again.
Last Thursday, most of the senior class attended the Pizza party, which had been planned for several months. In charge of coordinating ticket sales and obtaining the pizzas was Phil Perze.
As a reward for high sales figures in the last magazine sale, all members of Mr. Gregory's home room 200 received free tickets. The pizzas were ordered from The Ca-
