Variety Show Next

Groves high school will present its first "Varieties in Review" at 8 p.m. April 1 and 2, in the theater of the school.

This is another first in the new school's list of firsts for the year. "The show is made up to please almost everyone of every age," a student spokesman said.

Some of the features are singing and dancing by soloists and ensembles, a trumpet trio, "10 Little Indians," and "Malaguena" played by a piano team of 4 girls.

$280,000 Addition

TROY — A $280,000 expansion program was announced this week by Rockwell-Standard Corp. for its research and development plant at 2445 E. Maple, Troy. The firm has started construction of office and laboratory additions.

The firm, manufacturer of auto and aircraft parts, expects to hire an additional 100 persons upon the work's completion.

At GOP Conference

Michigan is sending its largest delegation on to the eighth annual Republican women's conference at Washington, D. C., April 2 to 5. An even 100 Michigan party workers will go to the sessions. Attending from Birmingham will be Mrs. Joan Greene, Mrs. Harry Henderson, Mrs. Harold Kalbfleisch and Mrs. Allen Ström.

'Hurry, Please!'

Above is the picture that took a first prize in the spot news category for Eccentric reporter Beni Scanlon. She snapped the picture in August at Maple and Woodward.

Miss Scanlon took a second place and three honorable mentions for her photographs in the annual Michigan Press association photo contest, weekly division.

Sitting Long

The reporter-photographer-editor also received a second-place prize in the family interest class. Hers were among 13 prizes or honorable mentions clipped by Eccentric staffers and awarded last week in East Lansing.

Awards were made at an awards luncheon which wound rappers association's 12th annual Photo Short course at the Kellogg center on the Michigan State University campus, March 26.
