Fashion Show Benefits Sacred Heart School

"Patio Parade of Fashions" is the title of the fashion show and tea to be presented at Birmingham Community House Tuesday from 1 to 3:30 p.m. by the Sacred Heart parish on North Adams road. Fashions will be by Alvins of Pontiac.

Among the models will be area residents Mrs. Bruce Butzler of Glydebourne, Mrs. John Farley of Beach road, Mrs. Donald Markus of Nicholas road, Mrs. John Naton of S. Christian Hills drive, Mrs. Ernest Gocha of Rosetta court. A complete outfit from Alvins will be given away. Tickets may be purchased through ticket chairmen Mrs. Louis Franczak of Crooks road, Mrs. Handal Mulvaney of Tutbury home and Mrs. Frank Bilyeau of Auburn Heights.

OTHER committee chairmen are Mrs. Donald Mahmeister of Bretby, Mrs. John Ball of Charnwood, Mrs. Frederick Beamish of Tutbury, Mrs. Paul Hussar of Wincombe, and Mrs. Gerald Mantion of Oakmont. Proceeds will benefit the school fund.

The M. J. Greens are back home on North Adams road after ten weeks at Pompana Beach, Fla. They bought a two-apartment at the Fairbanks Manor and are planning to take home Pompana Beach, Fla. as their winter home.

During their stay the Greens were accompanied by the Jim Patricks of Detroit on a four-day Nassau cruise on the ocean-going Italia.

The Sherman Malmonds of Hickory Heights drive have returned home from a 10-day trip through the New England country.

A few days were enjoyed in New York visiting Thurber's Carnival, international airport and dining in the glass room atop of the new 66 building.

A week was spent by Mrs. Fred Cornett and son, Donald, of Hickory Heights drive, at Roanoke, Va. recently. They were houseguests of Mrs. J. L. McNeil, Mrs. Cornett's mother, while they visited friends and relatives.

Another family back home are the Louis Forthaths and children, Nancy, Jan and Mark of Hickory Heights drive. They chose Washington, D. C., Williamsburg and Charlottesville, Va., for their visit.

Bloomfield Village Meet is Set

BLOOMFIELD VILLAGE—The Bloomfield village protective association will hold its annual meeting in the village school auditorium Monday, May 16 at 8 p.m. The agenda will include a report from each of the commissioners currently holding office. New commissioners from each of three districts will be elected. Following reports, the meeting will be opened for discussion and villagers may air any problems they may have. In a special bulletin issued by the association April 26, residents desiring to obtain individual control of leadium scale affecting elms on their property were advised to contact their own tree spraying service. Association officials recommended a dormant oil spray which is relatively non-toxic to birds and other warm-blooded animals.

Franklin Fair Slated Saturday

FRANKLIN—An all day fair from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. will be held on the village green this Saturday. The youth council of the Franklin Community church has made plans for booths and games to entertain village youngsters. A magic show will be held twice. There will be a performance in the morning and another in the afternoon. Tickets for all games will be ten cents. Events will move indoors at the church if it rains.
