

On the Hook

Children learn fastest when they're able to imitate grown-ups. Furniture scaled to size, and coat-hooks within reach, help teach good habits early. Mud wipes up easily from the smooth, dust-free surface of the vinyl-asbestos tile floor. A large bulletin board provides a showplace for creative talent.

Renters Too Have Some Work To Do

Home modernization is for apartment dwellers and house renters, too. Naturally, if you're in this category, you'll want to confine your projects to improvements you can take with you when you move. Why put off adding "built-in" shelves and room dividers? Metal shelves are now available that are completely self-supporting (no need to nail into walls) and quickly go together in whatever height or length you wish.

THEY CAN be used to section off a room or as shelves against the wall for books and knickknacks.

Pole lamps are another way of improving the decor and maintaining portability. They "keep their place" by simply pressing against the ceiling and floor.

Nowadays, you can have your dishwasher and take it with you, too. The new mobile dishwashers on the market easily attach to the spout in your sink, can be rolled to the table to collect soiled dishes.

THESE portables can be permanently installed if you move to your own home later on.

Room air conditioners that cool now, move later, are especially practical for dwellers in a temporary home.

They screen out dust and dirt—bugaboos of apartments in the city—and deaden traffic noises, too.

There is a wide variety of convenient shelves and racks to stretch storage space in closets, bathrooms or your kitchen.
