Birmingham - Bloomfield Hills Society Notes

By JOYCE KLARR
 MI 4-1355

One hundred beautiful girls—count them—one hundred! There might have been a few more. We talked about the start's black opening of the "Gala in 566" last night at the pavilion in Bloomfield Hills. Not that the men weren't equally impressive. It's just that so few of them wore good wigs as did Mrs. Tim King, or beige suits with long veils as did Mrs. Frank Lloyd, or shocking pink, green, and red as did Mrs. Richard Darrah.

Others seen under the canopy in front of the playhouse included Mrs. and Mrs. Fred Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dew, Mr. and Mrs. John Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinshelwood, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Letts, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Leitch, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Barden, Mr. and Mrs. George Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. George Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kasperowicz, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swanson.

Big Day Coming Up

AS THE DAY (Nov. 8) looms large we are increasingly impressed by the women around our town who really believe in constructive action.

Being editorially two faced, we have both sides of the coin as illustrations.

We'll start with Mr. John H. McVay of Yosemite. Betty was born and raised in Charlie Hope, Va. (yes, it's a town south of Richmond). She graduated from Flora Macdonald school in North Carolina where she majored in math and history.

HER EARLIEST interest in politics began during the depression and she has attended extension and summer courses in public affairs and international politics along with comparative governments at the University of Virginia. She taught school in Arlington county, Va. and met her husband (who is from Ft. Wayne, Ind.) in Washington. Mr. McVay is associated here with General Electric as a development engineer working on the man made diamond project (not a girl's best friend—these diamonds are for industrial use).

Labeling herself a new deal Democrat (she attended all three Franklin Roosevelt inaugurations) as opposed to a southern conservative Democrat (she told us they're the ones who come north and vote Republican), Betty has always loved political debate and discussions and bemoans the lack of it at social gatherings up here.

SHE IS A firm believer in the two party system and being eager to live in a two party state she was pleased with the McVay's transfer to Michigan and Birmingham where she intended to plunge immediately into political activity.

Only she couldn't find a fellow Democrat! She couldn't even find the Democratic headquarters!

One day Mrs. Donald McGee rang her bell on a dollars for Democratic canvas, and as Betty reports it "I was so delighted to see a fellow Democrat that I almost fell into her arms." Her association with the Birmingham Democratic party began then and she was soon asked to head the organization where she has been a tireless worker clubs, and addressing high school groups throughout the state. She too, firmly believes that the development of future good citizens begins with the stimulation of their interest in active political participation and interest in all phases of our government.

Cheers to both of them. I don't know about you, but they make me feel like a "do nothing". With these voting machines I can't even stuff ballots for my team anymore!

Cheers or Tears?

And still on things poignant, the Leo Vincents of Robto Hood circle have invited their neighbors in for a "cheers or tears" party on election night. Clever Mrs. V. has sketched caricatures of Dick and Jack on her invitations, and among those who will be enjoying the late late supper (there will be beer for sipping into purposes should the need arise) will be the Rod Hills, the Chester Sharps, the Robert McKinnis, the Jackie Glessons, the David Chutes, the Harry Stewarts, the Richard Barry, the Richard Gardner, the Joe Hamiltons, the Charles Eiders, the William Jardons, the Richard Kinzwood, the Media Roberts, and the Ed Witkoskys.

Another Jolly

It's another Jolly, my jolly. So states the clever poem written by Mrs. and Mrs. Edgar Jolly announcing the arrival of Margaret Spang last Monday. This poem is number five of a series.

Familiar Faces

You can't go anywhere in the world without running into Birmingham Bloomfield people. Las Vegas for example. Last week we saw The William McNaughtons, the the Birmingham community house. Dr. Audrey K. Wilder, president of Michigan division AAUW and dean of women at Albion college, will be speaking to the group. She is a graduate of Albion with a master's degree from Columbia and an L.H.D. from Ohio Northern university.

DR. WILDER has traveled extensively in England, Scotland, France, Mexico and the United States. She is mentioned in "Who's Who of American Women" and "Who's Who in the Mid-west."

Noted as an inspiring speaker, the visit of Dean Wilder is eagerly awaited by AAUW. She will be introduced by Mrs. Robert F. Kehr, president of Birmingham branch.
