Mrs. Donald Plumstead, who in 1924 started the first Girl Scout troop in Birmingham, receives a gift from Becky Blazo, 1043 Chestnut, of troop 941, at a Founder's Day celebration.

Girl Scouts Celebrate Birthday

Girl Scouts in Adams neighborhood presented a program at Adams school Friday for parents and invited guests to join in a nationwide celebration in honor of the 100th birthday of Juliette Low, founder of girl scouts of the USA.

Mr. George Talburt, neighborhood chairman, said scouts Marsha MacCleary and Ann Hanhart with the assistance of Mrs. Robert Plew wrote skits representing historic scenes in the early days of girl scouting in Birmingham.

MRS. DONALD PLUMSTEAD, 596 S. Glenhurst, Birmingham, was the group's honored guest. She started the first girl scout troop in Birmingham.

Mrs. Lawrence Quinn, district chairman, says girl scouting has grown from a lone troop of 12 girls in 1924 to a district of 15 neighborhoods.

OTHER PEOPLE who were active in originating and perpetuating girl scouting in Birmingham are Mesdames Richard Fowler, Max Horton, Eric Hyde, Roberts Hubert, Charles Kinison, Burt Stewart, A. C. Utter, Andrew Watson and J. J. Roura.

Smith College President's First Appearance Here

Dr. Thomas C. Mendenhall, president of Smith college, will address approximately 300 alumnae, parents of students and other friends of the college 6 p.m. Friday in the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel ballroom.

This will be Dr. Mendenhall's first appearance before the Detroit Smith group. The dinner also will mark the club's 50th anniversary. Dr. Mendenhall assumed office in July, 1959, as Smith's sixth president.

PRIOR TO accepting this position, he had served as associate professor of history and master of Berkley college, at Yale university, for more than 20 years.

Mrs. George N. Hittner, president of Birmingham Smith college club, will present highlights of the history of the two clubs. She explains that "the Detroit Smith college club began in 1910 with a membership of 16. Today, our membership rolls total more than 300, necessitating the formation of the Birmingham club in 1954."

Cranbrook Plans Junior-Member Indoor Program

Cranbrook Institute of Science has announced its fall indoor program for junior members—four Saturday morning meetings in the institute auditorium "Exploring Science".

Beginning Saturday at 10:30 a.m.; there will be three in November and one in December. Each program will be illustrated with motion pictures and color slides, with an occasional demonstration or experiment.

JUNIOR MEMBERS 10 years or older are eligible for the series; and each may bring one guest—just once, however. After that, young people between 10 and 18 must be members to attend.

The Nov. 12 program will explore physics, since the institute will soon be opening a new exhibit hall in this field.

"Exploring Electricity" is the subject for Nov. 19; "Exploring a Pond" for Nov. 26; ponds as habitat, kinds of ponds, life in ponds, balance of life in a pond, how and when to collect pond life.

SUBJECT FOR the last meeting Dec. 3 is "Exploring in a Pond" for Nov. 26; ponds as habitat, kinds of ponds, life in ponds, balance of life in a pond, how and when to collect pond life.

Institute Director Dr. Robert T. Hatt will show a color film and give an observer's account of this adventure.

10,000 View National Religious Art Exhibition

More than 10,000 persons viewed the national religious art exhibition, sponsored by Holy Name church, Birmingham, according to Irving A. Duffy, general chairman. The exhibit, titled "Christ—The King—The Church," was held in a geodesic dome at St. Regis church, Lincoln and Lahser. The show closed last week.

It will probably be renewed every two years, Duffy commented.

THE PURPOSE of the contemporary religious art exhibit is to encourage public interest in such works. Prizes totaling $3,000 were awarded to artists. Cost was underwritten by 60 patrons.

Astronomer Group Meets Next Week

The Pontiac-Northwest Detroit astronomer's association will meet at 8 p.m. next Thursday at the Old Church hall, north side of Harvard west of Coolidge, Berkley.

The group, which meets every third Thursday, is in temporary quarters until the expansion program is completed at its regular meeting place, Cranbrook Institute of Science.

ON DISPLAY will be the association's 12 1/2" Gregorian telescope and others, both new and old and custom made.

Persons interested in the celestial society are invited to contact Rosebeck, 2651 Harvard road, Berkley, is president.
