

Birmingham - Bloomfield Hills Society Notes

By JOYCE KLARR
MI 6-1358

Take the lowly cabbage for instance. We did — in several different ways too (and here I thought H. Ford's soy bean led all the rest in multiplicity of uses!) We're speaking of the annual Old World market, we visited last week at the International institute.

Arriving late, we rushed right past the Armenian lacemaking, through the Brazilian wood-carving, across the Swedish knitting, down the Persian enameling and there it was!

The International pastry booth, an art form we dearly love. We selected our cabbage rolls and borsch for medical purposes only (big brother might have been watching) then, in a wave of caroleic amnesia, piled our plate with pastries from almost every land (I might have missed East Jordan).

We had Polish apple strudel, Dutch macarons, Italian cannoli, Danish marzipan, French chocolate roll, Swedish mocha meringue and Japanese fruit compote (served with a fortune cookie with wishes for "rots of rack") After a brief rest we waddled out to look at the rest of the holiday fair.

From the Hungarian embroidery to the St. Andrews pipers shoppers were buying Christmas goodies by the gross. We spotted Mrs. William Pettison, Mrs. William Whitman, Bill Gilardy, Keith Blake, Mrs. Robert Reid, and Mrs. C. R. Weir armed with everything from Hindustani perpetual calendars to Estonian caps and Latvian nut crackers.

Parties Underway
Thirty-two days left until Christmas, and the round of holiday parties is already well launched. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Syme entertained at night concert under the sponsorship of the Junior women's association for the Detroit symphony. Among chic first nighters, we spotted Mrs. James Martin in a gown of emerald green peau d'ange. Mrs. Jerry Frost wore a Roman striped silk sheath and Mrs. Stephen Booth wore a souffant silk damask of electric blue.

Others in the crowded theater included Mr. and Mrs. A. Thalacker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beyer, Mr. and Mrs. William Bachman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burton, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Wynkoop, Mr. and Mrs. William Gerhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Restrick, Mr. and Mrs. L. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carrer.

Cheers went up at Harry Booth's impromptu performance. Mr. Belafonte took his mike down to Mr. Booth's ringside seat and induced him to give forth on a chorus of "Maidie" (it was all unremembered — we checked).

A mutual admiration society must have formed because the next day, Harry Belafonte came out to Bloomfield Hills and had luncheon with the Booths.

and Mrs. John C. Alberts, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hunt Weber Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Green, and Mr. and Mrs. George McCormick. After dinner the group moved over to the Community house for a reception.

Family Dinner

The Otto Kerns will host a family dinner at the Bloomfield Hills country club on T. day. The Ernest Kerns, the Richard Kerns and the David Vigers will bring their children for the big day.

Off to Missouri

Let's talk turkey. Mr. and Mrs. William Breech and their children will spend Thanksgiving in Lebanon, Missouri with Mr. Breech's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Breech.

Full House

It will be a full house at the W. A. P. John's tomorrow. Children and grandchildren around the table will include the Colin John's, with their five, the Richard J. Mor-

Skidmore Guest

Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. McMath honored Mrs. Carl H. Voss at a dinner last week. Mrs. Voss is director of admissions at Skidmore and was in town to talk to interested parents and prospective students. At the McMath's were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Coombs, Mr.

Portrays Bloody Mary In 'South Pacific'

"An Evening on Broadway," sparkling musical capsules of two well-known Broadway shows will be presented Dec. 5-10 by the Detroit Theatre Arts.

Faithfully following the story line and staging the outstanding musical numbers in full costume with new and colorful settings, Stuart Piggins, producing director, will feature a cast of 40 professional vocalists and dancers in abridged versions of the much-loved "The Merry Widow" and "South Pacific."

KATHLEEN Finch, 32255 Bellvue trail, Birmingham, will appear as Bloody Mary in South Pacific. Born in Dublin, Ireland, Mrs. Finch was a member of the Dublin Abbey Players for six years. She came to the U. S. in 1949 and worked as an actress in Hollywood and night clubs in the Los Angeles and San Francisco area for two years.

A resident of the Birmingham area since 1961, she has appeared in a number of productions of the Michigan Opera Co., Farmington Players' "Present Laughter," produced in 1959 and now teaches dramatics in the Children's theater, Birmingham.

Pledges at Wayne

Jeannie Andrus, 32555 Eastlady, Birmingham, has recently pledged Alpha Delta Pi social sorority at Wayne State university. Social sororities at WSU have added 133 women to their roster as a result of the Fall rushing season. The women who are pledged to the 13 sororities on campus will be formally initiated into their individual sororities after the Christmas holidays.
