

Problems . . . problems, little or large or of sizes between seem to litter the highways that most of us travel. There may be times when you rebel vigorously against this variety of "burdens" . . . yet, calmly appraising them, did not your victories over most of them repay you in a type of coin that cannot come from any nation's mint? For such "coin" is minted only where character is formed.

They Stopped . . . and looked . . . and listened . . . and laughed gaily.

They Learned About Manners--Yes, Sir!

But they comprehended . . .

Good humor and good manners were offered to Birmingham school children and their parents last week when Dorothy Waldo Phillips and her roguish puppet named Sammy Spivens appeared in a series of performances.

Mrs. Phillips, English-born lecturer and author, discussed good behavior with the children.

IN OTHER meetings, she talked with parents about the personal world of the child and how parents can successfully enter that world.

While in Birmingham, Mrs. Phillips and Sammy stopped at Querton, Torry, Valley Woods, Pembroke, Walnut Lake, Harlan, Pierce and Franklin schools.

. . . the seriousness of good manners. Sammy and Mrs. Phillips explained all about that.

And from the looks of this intent young audience, the clever presentation got results. "Thank you very much," concluded the program.

Nixon Volunteers Meet, Plan Oct. 26 Dinner

At a meeting last week at the Community House, Birmingham volunteers for Nixon heard George Kuhn, Oakland county chairman, explain the purpose of the National Volunteers for Nixon.

Co-Chairman Robin Bahr outlined plans to give a 44-plate dinner at the Community House on Oct. 26 at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be George Murphy. All voters desiring to know more about Richard M. Nixon are urged to come. MRS. JOHN K. BAGBY is chairman of the dinner arrangements. Mrs. Frederick G. Bahr is chairman of the ticket sales. Mrs. Elise W.

Reynolds is in charge of publicity. Members of the steering committee of the Birmingham Volunteers for Nixon are Harry M. Denyes, Jr., chairman; Mrs. Frederick G. Bahr, co-chairman; Charles Renfrew, treasurer; Mrs. George Van Norman, secretary; Robert L. Askew, Mrs. John Bagby, W. Byron Ireland, Dr. Robert J. Mason, Dr. Sydney Miller, Mrs. Elise W. Reynolds, George H. Rhyndance, Sydney Smith. Formal Wear Leader The season's big formal wear leader is the shawl collar tuxedo. Peaked lapel models are catching up, however. Lapel trim is in satin, for the most part.
