

Kay Cooley Opens Doors of New Addition

Busy salespeople made their last minute checks of Kay Cooley's new addition consisting of a Courtier Shop and Sports Patio at 190 W. Maple, Birmingham, before the grand opening rush last Friday. The 60 x 40 foot Sports Patio, decorated to complement the casual look of sports clothes with mosaic floor, wrought iron furniture and wood paneling, is connected to the Courtier Shop. The entire store has been re-designed with warm colors and wood accents and enlarged to occupy 80 x 100 feet of space.

Michigan has many places of interest for tourists. The Wright Cycle shop, where Wilbur and Orville Wright conducted their bicycle business and made parts of their first airplane, is in Greenfield Village in Dearborn. It was moved there from Dayton, Ohio.

Michigan's school system ranks with the best in the country. Taxes paid by businesses such as Standard Oil could go to no finer purpose than helping pay the cost of education. The new Ferndale High School is a shining example of a tax at work.

What is the biggest advantage of living in Michigan?

The J. and Springer family of Birmingham enjoys a family get-together. Mr. Springer is Standard Oil agent, is active in community affairs. He manages two boys' baseball teams, is active in the Chamber of Commerce and in church organizations.

If you were asked to tell a stranger what the biggest advantage of living in Michigan is, what would you reply?
Would you name the majestic beauty of northern, lake-studded forests? Or the bustling commerce of Detroit and the lake ports? How about fabulous resort and tourist areas—Mackinac Island, Tahquamenon Falls, Isle Royale, Lake of the Clouds, Benton Harbor? Or would you settle for the wonderful people of Michigan?

We'd settle for the people—all 7,778,220 of them (at last count). They are friendly, neighborly people who make a stranger feel at home. Many are in the Standard Oil family. And you've already met a surprising number of them.

We're sure you know many of our more than 2,300 Standard Oil dealers—those independent businessmen who own their own stations and who are so often leaders in community activities.

And farm folks are certainly well-acquainted with our more than 400 agents who call regularly and deliver Standard's quality petroleum products right to their back doors.

We wish you could meet all our employees, too. They live in every part of the state—literally hundreds of them. All wonderful to know and work with.

But that's not all the family. We can't forget the people who own shares in the company. In Michigan, more than 6,050 teachers, ministers, bankers, housewives—all kinds of people—own Standard Oil stock.

Just like you, our family lives, works and pays taxes in Michigan. In addition to federal taxes, Standard Oil pays taxes that help support local and state governments in Michigan. Also in accordance with the law, we collect taxes from customers and turn the money over to the government.

The Standard Oil family, scattered as it is throughout the state, is representative of all of Michigan. No wonder we put people at the top of our list when naming the advantages of living in Michigan.

What makes a company a good citizen?
A good citizen is often described as a good neighbor. Standard Oil Company and members of its "family" try to be good neighbors, contributing to the welfare and progress of the communities in which they live and work.
