Committee Organized To Boost James Kellis

A group of Republican and independent voters from Oakland county have formed a "Citizens for Kellis Committee" to boost the candidacy of Democrat James Kellis in his bid for the congressional seat from Oakland county.

The group, under the chairmanship of Morton Graddis, 1155 Vaughan, Bloomfield Hills, met with Kellis last weekend at the Graddis' home to lay plans for the campaign.

Graddis said, "The people of Oakland county are very fortunate to have a candidate of Jim's experience and background seeking to represent them in Congress. His entire life has been dedicated to the service of our country. He has a proven record of action and has demonstrated time and again that he can get things done."

"OUR GROUP feels that a recent editorial in The Birmingham Eccentric makes a point that all citizens interested in the good of the country should consider."

"The editorial, speaking of Kellis, stated that at rare times an individual runs for public office whose personal experience and background places him above mere partisan considerations," Graddis said.

"We have come to know Jim Kellis as just doing everything possible to bring this message to the voters of Oakland county."

Graddis said that the Citizens for Kellis committee is made up of "Republicans and independents from all parts of the county who realize that we have to send to Congress men who have a thorough understanding of the great issues facing the nation and who can and will do something about them."

Homecoming Is Happy In Spite of Hazards

For the second year in a row, Cranbrook's annual homecoming festivities were damped by rain though the student body still showed high spirits at the Saturday event. For weeks before, students had been planning and working on many aspects of the day's events.

Friday night the C club held a monstrous pep-rally at which Headmaster Hoy, the team coaches and captains and various players were asked to make short speeches to the students assembled around a huge bonfire.

Saturday morning saw many boys hurrying to complete their entries in the house decorating contest. Each of the boarding dormitories, the day-boy houses and the lower school constructed displays for this exhibit.

BAD LUCK plagued many of the entries. The Stevens exhibit, an 18-foot balloon, was found deflated and a replacement met the same fate when it was punctured by an errant tree branch. Rain ruined the display. The lower school displayed a football-suited crane, a ring on which the opponents were represented. Most ingenious of all, and winner of the coveted jug, was the marquis display. It presented the school with a representation of the battle between the Monitor and the Merrimack.

SCHOOL SPIRIT raged unchecked that noon as cheers broke out spontaneously in the dining hall, amid much table pounding. Unfortunately Cranbrook was defeated 19-0 in football and 19-2 in soccer by two very strong teams from the University School of Cleveland. During half-time the Cranbrook band and selected students presented a show with the Olympians as their theme.

All spectators were invited to a reception following the game, where they were entertained by the rise club under the direction of Mr. Bates. That night the boys of Cranbrook were guests at the Autumn festival held at Kingswood.

Our Jack Caught Up In Series Excitement

By JACK BIVENS
CIRCULATION MANAGER, BIRMINGHAM ECCENTRIC

Here is the end of the World Series I saw it. Place: Pittsburgh, Pa. Time: Final game of seven-game series. Teams: Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Yankees.

My day started at 8 a.m. at the home of my cousin, Bill Virdon, centerfielder for the Yanks (another nickname for the Pirates).

YOU WOULD think the excitement would be great at this house, morning newspaper. It was lying on the breakfast table and Bill He has a proven record of action and has demonstrated time and again that he can get things done."

We left Bill's house for the park at 10 a.m. As we drove to Forbes field, people were already making their way downtown for the greatest thing that has happened to Pittsburgh in 33 years.

THE CARS had signs and posters on their bumpers saying "Go Blue," "Best Ten Buses in the World." It looked like Miami in January the way the cars were covered with them. But who had a better reason than a town that had won a world series since 1927?

Driving down the parkway you could feel the importance of this day becoming greater as each mile passed. Speed limit on the parkway is 50 mph, but today the speed of the autos seemed closer to 60.

WE WERE fortunate as we neared the street from Forbes field. Bill Virdon had reserved a place for us with the Yanks. We were sitting it looked like we were going to run out of room. In the first two innings, the Pirates went out in front 4-0 and the stands were sure vibrating. Anyway the hall went out of the door and all-out applause.

NOW BACK to those five fellows that were on the roof. A foul ball home plate and one fellow started screaming. The other four were sitting it looked like we were going to run out of room. In the first two innings, the Pirates went out in front 4-0 and the stands were sure vibrating. Anyway the hall went out of the door and all-out applause.

Finally, the game was underway, and the cheers came rolling out as the Pirates took the field. In the first two innings, the Pirates went out in front 4-0 and the stands were sure vibrating. Anyway the hall went out of the door and all-out applause.

There were all kinds of people, tall, short, thin, fat, young and old.

ALONG the railing by the field, people were hanging over the rail taking pictures of this great event's stars. Like Bill Virdon, Dick Groat, Bill Mazeroski, Rocky Nelson, Hal Smith, Don Hoak, Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and Yogi Berra.

As old Casey stepped out of the dugout, the fans cheered. You just have to admire him, he is such a showman.

Today, the spotlight was on the field called diamond, a baseball diamond.

At game time the ball park was filled with the rafters.

On the top of the air behind there were five fellows sitting. I was sitting it looked like we were going to run out of room. In the first two innings, the Pirates went out in front 4-0 and the stands were sure vibrating. Anyway the hall went out of the door and all-out applause.

Now back to those five fellows that were on the roof. A foul ball home plate and one fellow started screaming. The other four were sitting it looked like we were going to run out of room. As old Casey stepped out of the dugout, the fans cheered. You just have to admire him, he is such a showman.
