

Reader Commends School Superintendent

To The Editor:
This letter is to commend our new superintendent of schools, Mr. Otis Dickey.
A petition, signed by concerned parents, was placed before him. He gave it every consideration with the result that the Board of Education revised the time schedule for the coming school year.

The elementary children will now be in school at an earlier hour than planned by the board last spring. Their learning capabilities are keener in the morning hours, so this decision will please parents and teachers.

Mr. Dickey's attitude to listen to interested parents was reflected by the board also. This interest cannot help but create a healthy atmosphere in our education in Birmingham.

Sincerely Yours,
Mrs. William I. Chapman
16275 Lauderdale,
Birmingham.

Cranbrook Plans Nature Trips For Adult Groups

CRANBROOK — Twenty-five years ago this month, when Walter P. Nickell joined the staff at Cranbrook Institute of Science, he organized adult nature trips for private groups, eight weekends in the fall, eight in the spring.

Fall schedule for 1960 begins with an orientation meeting at the institute on Wednesday, Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

People interested are invited to learn about the schedules and plans, and to look at movies and slides made on past trips, which have always been open to any interested adult and to family groups, whether or not they are institute members.

as the Ohio caverns near Columbus.

There is a small fee for the eight trips and each person or group furnishes his own transportation.

Directness is an important consideration in the design of modern highways. The Michigan state highway department estimates that for every 100 feet a freeway route can be shortened, the public will save $4 million in driving expenses during the 50-year-life of the highway.
