BUSINESS BRIEFS

Metzen Joins Firm

Edward M. (Bud) Metzen, 4247 Carey Lane, Bloomfield township, former president of the E. B. Metzger company of Detroit, has joined Davison-Olsenauer, commercial, industrial and residential builders, as a special projects supervisor. In his new assignment Metzen will be responsible for job coordination and management. The firm is planning the building of a nationwide chain of motels.

METZEN

In Germany

Attached to the 663rd ordnance depot at Velsch, Germany, is PFC Joseph Savino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Savino, 1444 Holland, Birmingham. Savino, a 1959 graduate of Seaborn high school, entered the Army Oct. 12, 1959, undergoing basic training at Ft. Hood, Texas. He was transferred overseas last March.

Kresge Revamps Commerce Board

Chamber of Commerce president Harvey Kresge has divided the entire Birmingham area into eight zones, one for each director, with the 9th director responsible for all new members joining the chamber. Each director will contact every chamber member in his zone periodically to discuss Chamber of Commerce affairs and to get better acquainted. Members are encouraged to contact their respective directors with questions for information, to make recommendations, etc.

Kresge hopes that the zone system will result in better communication and understanding between the membership and the board.

Four new members have been recently welcomed into the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce. They are: Thomas W. Bosley of Bosley's Service Center, 516 Ridge-dale at Hunter, Fred Arnold of Sav-On-Drugs, 6510 Telegraph, Gabrielle Hudock of Gabrielle's Modern Beauty Salon, 271 W. Maple, and Elaine Nagle of The Village Bookshelf, 790 N. Woodward.

Local Firm Moves

The M-H Office Services of Birmingham has moved to new and expanded quarters within the Stevens building, 1025 E. Maple.

Through expanded facilities M-H will be able to offer increased office services including telephone answering, mimeographing, printing, addressing and mailing and stenographic work.

Pair to Visit B'ham

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Winn of Detroit, winners of the Automobile Club of Michigan's 10-day statewide Michigan Travel Tour, will visit Birmingham Sept. 12. The couple won the tour in competition with more than 1,000 entrants in the Auto club's letter-writing contest.

New B'ham Record Shop Really Swings

Something new has been added to the Birmingham business district. Marty's Records will be getting into the swing of things at its new store at 185 S. Woodward near Maple with a three-day grand opening Sept. 8-10. The new record shop is a branch of Marty's Records at 2503 S. Maple and Cranbrook. The store will carry a complete line of phonograph and hi-fi records and accessories including stereo, long play, foreign music and language series, classics and children's records. Mary Lou Rosborough, above, is one of the store's two salesgirls. Miss Val Blichmann will manage both stores.

Local Teachers Get Physics Instruction

Two local high school faculty members get the grand tour of General Motors Physics department at the GM Tech Center in Warren as part of the 1960 General Motors Conference for High School Science and Mathematics Teachers. From left are Stephen M. Velkoff of Bloomfield Hills High; James E. Kauppila of GM Research Laboratories; Patricia L. Sargeant of Groves High and John H. Woodward of Cass Tech High in Detroit. During the summer months Velkoff was employed at Detroit Diesel Engine Division, Mrs. Sargeant at Ternstedt division and Woodward at Cadillac Motor Car division.

The dinner party that gets somewhere has Jaguar cigarettes

Giving a dinner party?

Brighten the occasion with Jaguar Gold Tipped Cigarettes. Elegant but not pretentious... with a distinctive filter that lets the true tobacco taste through. Jaguar Cigarettes are not sold everywhere but you will find them at better places.
