Junior Golfer Scores Ace

Fifteen-year-old Dick Sauerbrun, Jr., 2789 Pembroke, Birmingham, had an exciting experience which even seasoned goffers wait many years for. With only one year of goling under his belt, the youth drove 276 yards with a No. 1 wood to ace the eighth hole of the Springdie course Tuesday. After teeing of for the blind hole, Dick and his buddy, Jim Mensing, thought the ball had cleared the hole and landed in the creek beyond the sloping green. Jim yelled, "It's in the hole," as the rest of the foursome, Jim Cheney and Mr. H. Q. Lowe raced to the cup.

Chance Play, the Good Time six-year-old owned by retired indus-trialist C. P. Chamberlin of Bloom-field Hills, won his second race in 22 starts in a B Pace at Wolver-ine Harness Raceway in 2:044. This was the fastest time he clock-ed in two years.

The Lions conquered a brand new opponent at their Cranbrook training camp last week as head coach George Wilson's T-shirts and shorts strategy oune through to beat the heat.

New Hunting Concept Solves

Supply and Demand Problem

The rapidly growing popularity of hunting within the last few years has led to a completely new concept which last few years has led to a completely new concept which grevolutionizes the sport. The old problem of supply and demand created an imbalance of hunters and available game. To correct the situation hunting preserves have been established for birds and small game within the limits of which a steady supply of targets are provided. With the revision of the state prevention of the state of the several most of the several most of the state of the several most of the state of the several seve
