NEW SUITS FOR FALL BY

STYLE-MART

They're all around you—the compelling colors of fall... so handsomely interpreted in our selection of suits, just received. Traditional blues are infused with a touch of grape; browns are burnished with a new richness; and the new mid-grays have the luster of old pewter. They're truly a treat for the eyes and prices begin at only $59.50 to $100

outercoats

Does your coat measure up to the '60's?

Check your coat. Does it have the worldly new-for-the-sixties look of HS&M? For example: Shorter length—shortest in many seasons (the Continental influence). Generously comfortable (but trim!) body lines. Detailing—new shoulder trimness, neatly natural, the armholes cut for comfort in action. Fabric interest—small patterns, especially plaids and checks, in luxury-napped fabrics. Come in and choose a Hart Schaffner & Marx outercoat soon. Enjoy its newness now and for seasons to come!

Concord Green Subdivision Goes Colonial

Bloomfield Hills' new subdivision, Concord Green, located on Eastways drive between Square Lake and E. Long Lake roads celebrated its grand opening in colonial style last week. From left Gordon Walker, vice president of Brook Reef Estate, William J. Pulte, builder, John R. Miller, Concord Green sales manager, and Dave Kellert, secretary-treasurer of W. J. Pulte, Inc., talk over the features and facilities of the four completed early American homes. The subdivision contains 49 building sites.

Sue Lewis, head of Birmingham's new realty firm, Woodward Hills Realty company, comments appreciatively on the warm acceptance she has received since setting up her own office at 781 Chestnut. Well known in real estate circles in this area since 1953, she plans to maintain her business with an all-woman staff.

Congratulations to Frank Mulholland on the birth of a son, Sept. 15. The young man tipped the scales at 9 pounds, 2 ounces.

ELDON GENEROUS, custom tailor, asked us to tell folks that he is remaining in business at his old location, 147 Pierce, although the men's wear store has moved out... And we hear of a new prescription service at 800 S. Adams.

KAY BAUM, hopes that this idea will be an improvement over unofficial "word-of-mouth" message service with its inevitable occasional mix-up. Another Birmingham first!

One of Birmingham's little known manufacturing businesses is tucked away on Grant street, near Lincoln. The Woodcraft company manufactures wooden boxes for the kindergarten set to hold their toys and paraphernalia. They also make large hollow wooden boxes to encourage creative play and bookcases and other wooden articles.

ACTUAL marketing is handled by an outside firm. Of recent years, on the retail level and notwithstanding the firm's name, aluminum and formica work has become important.

The company was established in 1923 by Roy Smith, now retired. Son Ron Smith carries on the business.

Nostalgia department: Only about 30 acres remain of the once large Peabody orchards at Gilbert Lake. Some of the bearing fruit trees are 80-95 years old, proud
