

Mr. and Mrs. John Marr Residing in Jamaica

Carolyn Gould Hinton and John Harcourt Marr were married September 17 in Anabel Taylor Chapel of Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. The Rev. Richard Stott, Episcopal chaplain at Cornell, officiated at the 4:30 o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Hinton III, of N. Williamsburg Road, Bloomfield Village. Her husband is the son of Mr. Allan Marr of Queensland, Australia and Mrs. Reginald Heath of Green Island, Jamaica.

THE BRIDE wore an antique ivory brocade gown with sweetheart neckline and elbow length sleeves. Tucks at the waistline of the sweeping skirt draped into a bustle back with chapel train. A mantilla of heirloom lace formed the headpiece.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Virginia Hinton, and bridesmaids were Rosemarie Marr, sister of the groom, and Dawn King.

The three attendants wore identical gowns of deep rose velvet bodices with satin cummerbund and matching bell-shaped skirt. Head-dresses were veiled head bows of rose velvet.

ATTENDING the bridegroom as best man was Joseph Allen Crozier. Ushers were Peter Ellard, Gary Harden and Mehdi Killbush.

MRS. JOHN H. MARR

Carolyn and John both graduated from Cornell University in June. Carolyn was a member of Kappa Delta and her husband was affiliated with Alpha Gamma Rho. Following a reception and supper at the Statler Inn on the Cornell campus, the newlyweds left on a trip to New York, Bermuda and Nassau. They will make their temporary home at Abington, Green Island, Jamaica.

Children's Theater AAUW Presents Opening Play

The Shoemaker and his elves will come alive to the many school children of the area when they bring home pictures of these little folk from school today. The children have been asked to color this poster and return it to school Oct. 4. Dorothy Siddall, well-known water-colorist from Birmingham, has consented to judge these pictures for the Children's Theater of the American association of university women.

The posters selected within each age group will be displayed in the windows of the local stores. The Shoemaker and his Elves represent the story of the opening play being presented by the group Oct. 28 at the Birmingham Theater. There will be performances at both 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

THIS PARTICULAR theater group came into being as a part of the AAUW program so that the children of the area would have an opportunity to see live theater. Besides the play they produce each fall, the group brings to Birmingham two other theater groups totaling a series of three plays for the year.

The plays other than "The Shoemaker and the Elves" will be "Bobby and the Space Trip" given by the Millan Children's theater group on Nov. 25 and "Cinderella" to be given by the "Bugs Pipers" of Seaholm high school on Dec. 30.

FALL IS AN especially busy time for this group for amid all the rehearsals and preparations for the play they also have scheduled their annual membership tea. This year the tea was at the home of Mrs. Cowden Fortenbaugh with the group chairman, Mrs. Mort Neff, pouring. Mrs. Richard Clonon with the help of Mrs. Wade Hubert is directing the play.

The business manager, Mrs. Frank Mosher, announces that season tickets may be purchased in the following ways: at the elemen-
