Matmen to Give B'ham First Wrestling Show

"Leaping Larry," "Bruke," "Mr. Michigan," "Bulldog," "Bad Boy," "Iron Jack," and "Bouncing Bernie" will be the stellar attractions Saturday at Groves High School.

No, they're not teachers nor students.

They're professional wrestlers who will put on a Birmingham's first wrestling program. Proceeds of the match will be used to finance the Birmingham Kiwanis Club's many children's programs.

BEGINNING at 8 p.m., the matmen will engage, rather tangle, in what may be a series of brutal struggles. "Bruke" Bernard has said that he will wear his opponent, Larry Chen, limb from limb.

Meanwhile, quiet and calm Larry said he prefers to let his action in the ring speak for him rather than words.

Matchmaker Bert Ruby, also a former growler, has lined up four other bouts: Dick M.R. Michigan; Garza will take on "Bulldog" Brower, who is a human, in the semi-final bout.

OTHER TOP television performers on the card are "Bad Boy" Joe Abernethy Named Lacrosse Captain

Lee Abernethy, former Birmingham High athlete, has been elected captain of the Ohio Wesleyan lacrosse team.

The senior defencemen's play was instrumental in the Bishop's first game of the season, an 11-5 win over the Columbus Lacrosse Club.

Prize Fishermen

W. D. Pittman, 4261 Carey Lane, Bloomfield Township won first place in the Bahamas Winter Fishing Tournament with 29-pound 12-ounce barracuda caught on light tackle and a third place with a 9 1/2-pounder.

Babe Ruth Loop Needs Managers

Final tryouts and practice for those wishing to play in the Birmingham Babe Ruth League will take place Saturday at St. James field.

Thirteen-year-olds will meet at 9 a.m., while those 14 and 15 will gather at 1 p.m.

League officials are still looking for men interested in managing or coaching. Those interested must go to the tryout site Saturday.

Unknown Cyril Walker: King of Golfers in 1924

When today's golfers review the winners of the U. S. Open championship, they sometimes speak of Cyril Walker as the champion who came from nowhere and went back to nowhere.

Walker was the little English professional who in 1924 won the first of the three U. S. Open golf championships which have been decided at Oakland Hills country club, where the title will again be at stake, June 15-17.

Walker was one of the most ill-starred golfers ever to win the Open. His health was poor and within a few years of his Open victory he was made penniless by the Florida crash. He ended his working days as a caddy in Florida and died soon after in a Hackensack, N. J., police station where he had sought refuge for the night.

NO IMPENDING tragedy was averted in 1924, however, when the little 118-pounder had the shots to beat defending champion Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and other greats over the longest course on which the Open had ever been played.

Walker was professional at Englewood, N. J., at the time of his triumph. He had been an assistant at the famed Hoylake course near Liverpool and made several fair showings in the British Open. However, he had never been better than 13th or closer than 12 strokes, he the winner in previous U. S. Open bids.

Nor was the little Briton again to be close. In subsequent Open Walker couldn't finish closer than 42 strokes.

AL WATROUS, Oakland Hills pro, disputes the generally accepted story that the 1924 Open was played in high winds and that Walker won because of his experience on gale-swept British links. "Walker could not have won at Oakland Hills playing low shots into the wind because the course is too long," says Watrous. "There was no more wind than is usual in June."

It is that as it may, Walker won by three strokes from Jones with 207. He played with oft-maddening deliberation for rounds of 74-74-74-15, nine over par of that day.

LITTLE CYRIL'S big push came on the front nine in the third round when he posted a 34 and made at least three strokes of everyone.

Walker and Jones were tied during the final round. They were still even with nine to go. But Jones fell at the troublesome 10th, the par hole which cost him two fives and two sixes in the tournament. Jones finished out the back nine for a 40 and a 78 that gave him 300.

Now in front, Walker still had to risk all on No. 16. Here a double or triple bogey was possible because of narrow fairways, deep grass and a lake which had to be carried to a peninsula green. Fingers' bid had ended there with a shot into the lake.

"CYRIL TOOK least 10 minutes and changed clubs three times before he made his shot over the lake," says Watrous. "He plays a midiron shot to hold the green. His ball ran 10 feet past the cup. He sank it for a birdie then."

Two safe par's brought Walker home the winner.

Water Safety Pan Promoted by Doctor

Families planning a summer filled with water sports activities should learn the art of mouth to mouth breathing, said Dr. Albert E. Heston, state health commissioner.

"You never know when it may be necessary for you to act quickly to revive another member of the family or someone else near death from drowning," the commissioner said. "If everyone in the family knows how to administer mouth to mouth breathing, many needless deaths at Michigan's water playgrounds can be avoided."

Mouth to mouth resuscitation has been used for the first time in the last couple years as a more effective and simpler method than the one formerly used which required pressure on the upper back region to force air into the lungs. With the new mouth breathing air is blowing directly into the lungs.

MOUTH TO MOUTH breathing will be administered by anyone who has sufficient lung power to blow up a balloon. Doctor Heston said. This means the number of people able to administer this valuable life saving procedure is far greater than it was giving artificial respiration the old way.

Literature is available by writing to the Michigan Department of Health, Lansing 4.

Knowing how to give mouth to mouth breathing may some day mean the difference between being able to save the life of a loved one or having to suffer the tragedy of helplessly watching him die," the commissioner pointed out.

"It would pay everyone to know how to do it, whether they're a family party at the beach or just an occasional visitor. And, right now is the time to learn, before the beach season opens," he said.

Three Men Plan Area Saber Club

Three Birmingham area fencing enthusiasts are in the process of forming a fencing club. Jerry Fitzsimmons, 1855 Fairview, Birmingham; Fred Bush, 1405 1/2 E. 12th St., West Blocton; and Jim Campbell, 32475 Bingham Road, Bingham Farms, are the organizers.

They plan to hold tryouts for the club on the evening of the sport.

Campoli is one of the top annual fencers in the country and has won numerous tournaments. Further information may be obtained by calling any of the three.

Little League Last Tryouts Saturday

Last tryouts for the Birmingham Little League will take place Saturday at four locations.

T-ballers will meet at 10:30 a.m. Others will practice from 9-11 and 1-4.

American league applicants will meet at Pierce School, Pierce north of 14 Mile; Continental, Elton Field, Lincoln east of Elton; Federal, Derby Junior High, Derby east of Adams; and National at Poppleton Field, east of Hunter and north of Oakdale.

ONLY BOYS who will be eight years old or before July 31 will be eligible for T-ball competition.

For major league eligibility, a boy must be not less than nine years old on or before July 31 and not over 12 by the same date.

All boys who have turned in a registration form will be assigned to a team and will be notified by his manager by the end of next week.

If the number of boys reaches the expected 2,500, it will mean that more than 70 per cent of all Birmingham boys 8-12 will be competing in some sort of Little League activity.

MEMBERS of the joint board of directors of the Birmingham Little League are: Bob Spitznagel, president; Chuck Wilson, vice president and city coordinator; John O'Hara, treasurer; Ron Filter, secretary; Norris Host, equipment director; and Charles Beck, publicity director.

swing, the left arm is not kept rigid, rather it is straight or extended, but never rigid against downward motion. It begins with the movement of the left hip and the right arm, and the left arm, he said.

Like Warren stated last week, he is not a natural spotter. His moves are mechanical. The game provides enjoyment for millions of enthusiasts, but to better one's game, all details of instruction must be accurate to the 12th degree.

LESS THAN two months from now Birmingham will become the golf capital of the world. The star of the U. S. Open will be played on the famed Oakland Hills Country Club course.

Area golf enthusiasts will have the opportunity to see some of the all-time greats.

Host for the giant tourney will be Al Watrous, three-time winner of the 50-and-over PGA Seniors' Championship. (In passing, Bill Graham, professional at Bloomfield Hills Country Club, has been appointed chairman of the PGA Seniors' tournament committee for the second consecutive year.)

Throughout the years, Watrous has been one of the stalwarts of the golf world, as a player and teacher.

Last week, Tam O'Shanter's Warren Orlik detailed the fine points concerning the golf drive. Al continues the series next week with his comments on certain facets of the game.
