

To develop the ability to show personal reverence for some sustaining, regenerating, inspiring facts of the divinely human environment of life, this is a goal that promises more happiness and security than anything that is purchasable by gold and silver. Man does not live by bread alone; it is a solemn declaration handed right out of Heaven. He who understands those words is wealthy.

Ellen Flint Marries M. Cunningham, Jr.

Ellen Virginia Flint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard Flint of Bloomfield Hills, and Marcus Eddy Cunningham, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Eddy Cunningham, also of Bloomfield Hills, were united in marriage at Christ Church Cranbrook Saturday evening at 8:30. The Reverend Lester P. Dobyns performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of light ivory pique de soie, fashioned with a square scalloped neckline, cap sleeves and fitted bodice of Alencon lace. An apron-effect overlay of lace on the bouffant sheath skirt was accented by black tulle, which fell into a chapel sweep train.

Her hijab veil was held in place by a pillbox headpiece of Alencon lace which matched the lace in her gown. She carried a bouquet of Annonis lilies, lilies of the valley and ivy.

THE MAID-OF-HONOR, Susan Elizabeth Flint, and Matron-of-honor, Mrs. G. Brinell Williams, wore dresses of silk organza over tulle in waterline, made with scooped neckline, cap sleeves and fitted bodice with a satin sash.

The bridesmaids, Virginia Hill of Santa Clara, Calif., Marilyn Olson of San Francisco, LaAnne Aulepp and Mrs. John Follansbee of N. Y., Mrs. Robert Gilroy and Mrs. Creighton W. Runnette wore dresses identical to that of the maid and matron-of-honor and carried white Marguerite daisies.

CHARLES CUNNINGHAM was his brother's best man. Guests were seated by G. Brinell Williams, Daniel Beresford, Stephen Saunders, Henry Garrity of Waterbury, Conn., Martin Burke III of Chicago, John Neumeier of Minneapolis, and Ems. William T. Gossett, Jr. of Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Flint chose for her daughter's wedding a Balmain yellow and green warped tulle train. Her hat was a circle of soft green feathers and green cymbidium orchids were pinned to her hair.

Mrs. Cunningham wore a gown of shell-pink imported lace over a tunic of pink tulle. A corsage of old-fashioned pink buttoned roses was attached to her pink satin purse.

Civil War Theme To Key Fashions

Authentic costumes of the Scarlet O'Hara era will contrast with a new collection of fall clothes modeled by alumnae and mothers, sponsors of the annual fashion show and those at the convent of the Sacred Heart in September.

Those who attend this gala highlight of the autumn season will have a part in raising funds for the building program. The Rev. Mother Wamboro is confident that the new dining rooms and auditorium will be completed in time for the events.

Ten tea tables will enhance the beauty of the new rooms, providing a lovely background for the school children who will model the period costumes. Furs by Robert and Claire Peareone's fall collection will be shown to full advantage in the new rooms.

THE COMMITTEE has themed the show to the Civil War Centennial. The selection is appropriate when one considers the history of the cornerstone of the convent.

A century ago, in 1861, it was laid at Jefferson Avenue for the first Detroit convent, then was brought to Lawrence Avenue in 1918. Now, of course, it is the cornerstone at the Bloomfield Hills convent.

Program cover and tickets for the show were designed by the late Rocco DiMarco.

Mrs. Joseph E. Rison is general chairman of the Sept. 27 event. The mother of six children, one of them a brand new baby, she is handling arrangements for the show despite a busy schedule that includes preparation to move into her new home on Harlan Drive in Budge.

CO-CHAIRMEN are Mrs. Philip J. Huber and Mrs. Richard D. Cleary with Mrs. Frank J. Perron in charge of fashions and Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks in charge of patrons.

Acknowledgments chairman is Mrs. Frederick Colombo. Heading arrangements for tickets is Mrs. Philip J. Huber with Mrs. George Hemshaw, Mrs. Victor C. Hillbrand, Mrs. John B. Abbink and Mrs. Joseph F. Gatz assisting.

Country Club followed the ceremony. The wedding party received in front of a massed arrangement of ferns with the ends of the receiving line marked by white rose trees. The bridal table, draped with amaranth, held three silver corgies of album lilies and greenery.

Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, Jr. left immediately after the reception for the Broadmore Hotel in Colorado Springs.

For her wedding trip, the new Mrs. Cunningham wears a coral and beige silk print dress and beige woolen coat, lined with the silk of her dress. Her hat was peacocks velvet and her accessories were beige.

Some 60 young people dressed in Oriental style, enjoyed the fabulous poise atmosphere, replete with dancing and buffet supper.

Hong Kong Party

Dianne and Donna Richardson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Richardson, Jr. of N. Gleggarry Road, Birmingham, "previewed" the gala 1961 Orient-South Seas Safari coming event at their parents' home on Sunday—with a Hong Kong party all their own.

Their party last Friday honored their cousins, Kathryn Flack and Denise Chambers, both of Freeport, Ill., who return to their homes tomorrow after a fortnight visit at the Richardsons.

A buffet dinner party is planned at the Clifford Baugh's home, 345 Hawthorne, on Sunday.

A Rain of Showers

BUSY IS the word for bride-to-be Joan Cartwright. On July 22, Mrs. B. K. Sanden and her daughter Judith opened their lovely new home at 1324 Sandringham Way for a tea and bridal shower in honor of Joan.

The hostesses presented Miss Cartwright with a corsage and she opened her gifts which were arranged under a white net umbrella adorned with bows and flowers.

Mrs. William Scherer and daughter, Mrs. Thomas Stuchell, were hostesses Saturday at a shower at Mrs. Scherer's home on Coachmaker Drive, Bloomfield Hills.

A buffet dinner party is planned at the Clifford Baugh's home, 345 Hawthorne, on Sunday.

THE BRIDE ELECT, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cartwright, 1385 Brookwood, will be married August 19 at the First Methodist Church to John P. Hinckley Jr. He is the son of Mrs. Frederic Bloodhart of Van Nuys, Calif. and John P. Hinckley Sr. of 2960 E. Bradford, Birmingham.

The groom-to-be has been attending summer camp at Ft. Riley, Kan., as a cadet in the Michigan State University ROTC program.

Pooling Their Fun

The pool side party and picnic potluck Friday evening at the George Wellington Smith home in Franklin was a "re-peat performance" of last year's annual event. Some 100 members of St. Dunstan's Players had a part in the festivity and are all for an encore—and who can blame them with such choice hosts.

Classic Decor

Former Birmingham resident Mrs. Vincent P. Blair, now of Dayton, Ohio, and her daughter Mrs. Lawrence Iemsen also sponsored a much appreciated performance when they showered bride-to-be Nancy Ann Tischer of Cranbrook Road, Bloomfield Hills.

Decor for the party at Bloomfield Hills Country Club July 27 was keyed to the kitchen—as were the gifts for the future Mrs. Michael J. Lutomski—and a four foot high, pot-bellied stove stole the show.

To top the fun, an old iron skillet traced the top of the antique stove and a proper bridal touch was applied for those who stopped to peer into the skillet for it contained one burned, fried egg.

RED AND WHITE checkered tablecloth and calico napkins provided a fetching setting for the old bean pots filled with flowers.

Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Iemsen donned aprons to greet the 30 guests and carried the latest in mop and broom. Nancy Ann, who will be married Saturday, received these items too.

Her 80-year-old grandmother, Mrs. C. E. Tischer, was a very special guest at the shower.

'High-Flying' Birthday

Julia Mininal celebrated her eighth birthday "up in the air." She and her nine-year-old sister, Jeanne, were flown from Detroit to Lancaster, Penn. While in flight, they had an aerial tour of the Civil War battlegrounds at Gettysburg.

Local People On Committee For Concert

Residents from the Bloomfield Hills area are playing an active part in the ticket drive for a major fall event.

With other committee members, they met Friday to assist with plans for an October Detroit Symphony concert which will be conducted by Danny Kaye.

Among the divisional chairmen are Robert Wardrop, Society of Contributors president, and Mrs. Keith T. McKenney, Junior Women's Association president. Fred J. B. Sevald is a ticket member.

CHARLES S. HIRSELHOCH and Tobin Kote are area chairmen. Other committee members from this area are Mesdames Richard P. Barr, David Demaree, Robert Durocher, James Garrity, Henry C. Thomas, G. Burton Lord Jr., William J. Poplack, Robert S. Raich, John T. Restrict, Loren D. Riley, Fred J. B. Sevald and Messrs. John Pespel and Paul Zuckerman.

Visit Campus

Three Birmingham girls who will enter Western Michigan University as freshman this fall are spending two days this summer at the University of Michigan campus. They are Sara Hoesgardner, Diana Johns and Susan Bird.

Area Residents Attend Wright-Dawkins Rites

A Bloomfield Hills resident, William A. Raich, was best man Saturday afternoon at the wedding of Lt. Peter Miller Dawkins of Royal Oak. Dawkins is a graduate of Cranbrook School for Boys and of the U. S. Military Academy.

Attending the wedding from the local area were the best man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Raich, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peterson, all of Bloomfield Hills. The military wedding with double arch of sashes united Judith Lenman Wright and Dawkins in the Cadet Chapel at West Point, N. Y. The Rev. Richard A. Busch of Chattanooga, Tenn., presided at the double ring ceremony.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wright of Oxon Hill, Md. The groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Henry E. Dawkins of Royal Oak.

A gown of white Nottingham lace with scalloped neckline, "chuck and show" length sleeves was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Its 60-inch train was accented with a scalloped hemline. Her pearl tiara was attached to a bouffant veil and she carried two white orchids set in lily of the valley, over a Book of Common Prayer.

The matron of honor was Mrs. William M. Horton of Arlington, Va., Susan Dawkins, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

OTHER ATTENDANTS to the bride were Mrs. Thomas K. Burk, Jr. of Cherry Point, N. C.; Catherine Herring of Chevy Chase, Md.; Lyndal Tarbeck of St. Petersburg, Fla. and Mrs. Lee R. Nunn, Jr. of Ft. Campbell, Ky.

They were given in pale lavender organza with shawl collar and gathered full skirt. They wore chapeau caps with an organza rose attached and carried cascade bouquets of purple and white delphiniums with white ribbon streamers.

Head usher was Lt. Lee R. Nunn, Jr. Other ushers were Lt. John O'Brien, Lt. Robert A. Novagratz and Lt. Louis V. Hightower, all of Ft. Bragg, N. C. Best men were Cracker, Ft. Campbell, Ky.; Lt. Charles Johnson of Ansonia, Conn. and Capt. David F. Lyon of Rosalind, Mass.

The bride's mother wore a coral lace sheath dress with chiffon back accents. The mother of the groom chose a pale pink, long-sleeved, shantung sheath. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

A reception in garden terrace of the U. S. Hotel Thayer, West Point, followed the ceremony. The couple will honeymoon in Europe before returning to Oxford, England where they will live for the next year.

She Keeps Busy at Home; Townsend Takes New Job

Bean Chien, a black French poodle who came to live with the Lynn Alfred Townsends on his mistress's birthday in 1960, likes to take an excursion now and again.

But like any good dog, he has a nose for news. At any rate, he left home for a brief run last Thursday but seeing some excitement returned to his Bloomfield Township quarters in time to hear that his boss was now president of Chrysler Corp.

The announcement was made from New York. It was not a surprise to Mrs. Townsend who had kept the good news a secret for two days. She was waiting to hear it on the radio and keeping her excitement at bay of coming things around the house. She also took time off to look for Bien Chien.

Former Resident Married in West

Mrs. Blair Swartz of Tucson, Ariz., formerly of Birmingham, announces the marriage July 20 of her daughter, Susan, to Dr. Don L. Bunker of Los Alamos, N. M.

Susan, the daughter of the late Blair Swartz, graduated from Birmingham High School and Antioch College. She has worked in western hospitals as an occupational therapist and as a mathematics technician.

THE THREE Townsends sons were notified of their father's assignment after the radio announcement. James, 20, and Charles, 14, shared in the family's pride. The youngest, Richard, 11, was called at camp near Traverse City.

Her husband is a graduate of Antioch College and the California Institute of Technology. The couple are employed at the University of California, Los Alamos scientific laboratory.

They will make their home at Los Alamos.

Townsend took the number two post at Chrysler's last December. He and his wife, the former Ruth Laing, met at the University of Michigan (she was born Ann Archer). They graduated in 1940 and were married in September of the same year.

She's Engaged

Mrs. and Mrs. Samuel Benjamin Stewart Sr. of Ferndale announce the engagement of their daughter, Wanda Fay, to Robert Charles Restrict III, Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Charles Restrict Jr. of W. Lincoln, Birmingham.

The bride-to-be attended Highland Park Junior College. Her fiancé is a graduate of Lawrence Institute of Technology and was affiliated with Phi Kappa Upsilon.

Mrs. Townsend's major was history and she and her family share an interest in the subject. The alim-tal executive's wife says "we all like to read historical novels."

A December wedding is planned.

There hasn't been much time for that lately.

ALTHOUGH SHE is calm in facing the new responsibilities that lay before her, she indicated that she was not too eager about being a "resident's wife."

She likes her home, does most of her own work and most of the cooking—ever so entertaining.

This "first" of schools outside interests, most of them associated with her children. She has more than her share as "den mother or housemother mother or something like that."

Mrs. Townsend is a member of the American Association of University Women and the family also belong to Kirkin-the-Hills though she is not active in church work.

Channel Charmers

Birmingham resident Pat (Mrs. Donald R.) Morris, poses with four young ladies who will participate in the WXVZ-TV program "Sally Seven."

She will continue in this role along with her new duties. The four fledgling announcers chosen so far are (from left), Ardis Thorpe of Royal Oak, Gloria Bartl, Judy Bartsch of Grosse Pointe and Gloria Kirby of Detroit.

SHE HAS MADE several global trips with her husband and enjoys travel.

The one "trip" she is planning for the near future, however, will take the family only as far as Byron Lake near Flint. There her husband can relax with his boys and they will go motorboating, one of their favorite activities.

And Beau Chien can dig for shells.

Groves Student Honored by MSU

Carol Vine of Wylie E. Groves High School won high honors in a course on yearbook editing at the conclusion of the third session, July 12-28, of the high school communication arts summer institute at Michigan State University.

Dr. Fred S. Siebert, dean of the MSU college of journalism and arts, addressed the awards luncheon Friday on "Ideas Make the World Go Round."

More than 500 outstanding students from high schools across the nation attended the institute for advanced instruction.

A total of 150 outstanding students from 15 states participated in the third session. Awards were presented to 49 students.
