More Room at Eastover

Six new classrooms have been built and a remodeling program has been carried out at Eastover School in Bloomfield Township. The classrooms two new kindergarten areas, a special activities room and an extensive storage area are some of the new features. The former kindergarten facilities have been converted into a library, offices have been enlarged and a conference room has been installed in the lobby. The new classrooms are self-contained so that the corridor-walls can, in the future, be relocated for team-teaching or to make possible different classroom groupings. The new $184,617 wing is the third unit to be constructed. No new ones are anticipated.
