Franklin Woman Helps To Nab Thief in Nassau

FRANKLIN—Crime doesn't pay for anyone. Not that you would expect much. But a "Franklin" woman has been nice, says Mrs. Walter Kasten of Franklin Park Drive.

Especially when you've interrupted a well-deserved siesta on your vacation in Nassau to help local authorities apprehend hotel thieves.

Home after two weeks pre-Christmas Florida holiday with her husband, which included a week in Nassau, Mrs. Kasten related her unusual experience.

She had parted with her husband in the lobby of the hotel, and went to their room to rest before dinner. It was a lovely late afternoon and she was in the balcony just outside the room, anticipating, she said, the view from the balcony.

When she suddenly realized what was going on, she hurried down to the lobby, she said her husband, who had been in minutes police were hot-footing it after the men.

Several hundreds of dollars and quantities of jewelry were recovered.

All the rest of the evening the Optimists to Meet Jan. 4 to Hear Talk on Research

SOUTHFIELD—"Research The Key to Your Future" will be the subject of James Vreeland who he talks before the Southfield Optimist Club Jan. 4 at the club dinner at Howard Johnson's, 10 Mile and Northwestern.

Vreeland is with the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company.

DURING the past weeks, the Optimists sold all but 100 of the club's 1,500 Christmas trees on sale on Northwestern near Nine Mile Road. Proceeds will be used to further work for boys.

About 70 members and guests of the club attended the annual Christmas party Dec. 15 at Devon Gables.

Name Architects For New Southfield Junior High School

SOUTHFIELD—Architects for a new junior high school on Nine Mile Road, west of Telegraph, have been named.

School Superintendent Glenn Schomburg has been authorized by the board of education to negotiate with Charles W. Lane and Associates of Ann Arbor.

School officials said the school will be built as soon as possible.
