Bake Sale Receives Sweet Reaction

By JUDY RASKIN and LEE MARSHALL Special Writers

In the lunchroom on Jan. 31, there was quite a commotion around a small table. On which were placed cookies, cupcakes and brownies—with a dozen hands all going at once to the quickly diminishing pile of brownies.

The Future Teachers of America club was holding one of many fund raising projects, a bake sale. The members of the club each donated some type of home-baked goods to the club. They were then sold to the students during the lunch hour. Proceeds will go to the FTA treasury.

THE DRAMATICS group of BHHS is now working on a play depicting school life. It will be presented this spring. The play itself is now being written by faculty advisor Mr. Drummond, with the assistance of students Marguerite Hyde, Cindy Skalsky and the creative writing class.

Casting for the play will be held soon. All ninth grade students who are interested in trying out are eligible.

Refreshments will be handled by Mary Lee Payton and Karen Piel and Don Robinson and Gary King are in charge of getting chaperones for the dance.

Everyone in the NJHS will help with publicity and clean-up.

In order to orient the new United Nations Club at Barnum, an all-school assembly was sponsored on Feb. 2. The guest speaker was Mosley Harvey, a senior at Southfield High. He told and showed pictures of his experiences in Japan, where he was sent as an exchange student by the American Field Service last summer.

Mr. Labots, social studies teacher, explained the plans and purposes of the new club. Membership is open to all eight grade students who are interested in preserving the values of freedom and in extending friendship around the world.

Wide participation of members will be stressed. Plans include the writing of a constitution and world service projects.

Temporary officers have been elected. They are Pete Hendrixson, chairman; Heidi Ervin, vice chairman and Sharon Stolberg, secretary.

Cotter Addresses Engineers' Society

Bart Cotter, 1915 Rathmor, Bloomfield Hills, chief engineer of Fisher Body Division, addressed a meeting of the Mid-Michigan section of the Society of Automotive Engineers last week.

Cotter outlined how his division assisted in putting the new Corvair automobile into production late in 1959 and explained some of the major problems which had to be overcome.
