

He who "is on fire" with the ardor of the reformer, whether he stand in pulpit or on a political platform, or on behalf of some "cause", is being inspired in order to impress your mind and heart so that you may "believe". Dependence upon the cold mathematics of reason and logic alone will not start people on the march to achievement. Good inspiration is generated by "yearning to do good."

Lisa Probes Into the Vast, Vast Past

'Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death'

History--That's Where And 'She Was There'

February is a "red, white and blue" month.

It not only marks the birthday anniversaries of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington, but it also is a month of many other memorable historic events.

American Revolution and the War of Independence: It was the hectic month that preceded the Boston Massacre in 1770.

War of 1812 between the United States and Great Britain: Word came Feb. 14 that a treaty of peace had been signed at Ghent. The U. S. ratified it Feb. 17, 1815.

Civil War: The provincial government of the Confederate States of America was formed Feb. 8 at Montgomery, Ala.

Spanish-American War of 1898: The battleship Maine, sent to Havana in January on a good will tour, was blown up Feb. 15, 1898.

World War I: Germany's official submarine "blockade" of Great Britain began Feb. 18, 1915.

World War II: Iwo Jima was invaded by U. S. joint expeditionary forces on Feb. 19, 1945, with land action by the Marines.

Korean War: On Feb. 1, the United Nations General Assembly named Communist China the aggressor in Korea.

In February, 1961, little Lisa Stasak, daughter of The Birmingham Eccentric staff photographer, pretends "she was there."
