Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Society Notes

By JOYCE KLARR MI 6-1358

The blower girls probably started it all. All those women in all those pants, we mean.

We're referring to the lovely lady skaters in their bright, tight stretch ski pants we saw last week end up at Otogato. In fact, there were so many Birmingham Bloomfield families enjoying the fresh snow at Hidden valley that we're wondering just WHO was left home to watch the stores!

We saw Mr. and Mrs. C. B. West skiking with their daughter Mary (son Dick in sking at Sun Valley with the Robert Carters). The Ralph Gettings were practicing their "wodin" (that's Austrian for keep those skis together, Sam) in preparation for their trip to the Alps next month. The Ozlie Rowers, Bud Adams and Morgan Douglas were sporting their racing silks as they sped down the slopes and the Robert Pifes, John Fawers, and S. Gawnes enjoyed their place in the sun over by the chair lift.

THE NICK MARTINS, Fred Erbs and Garrett Mouws skied the T bar area and lunched at the river cafe. The Charles Perry brought their travel trailer up north with them and the Ted Latta had their station wagon full
