Peg Date for Annual Association Party

FRANKLIN—Starting the New Year out right, the Franklin Community Association announces its annual President's Ball for Jan. 28 at the Birmingham Country Club.

Bob Smith, chairman, says there will be a cocktail hour hosted by the association, preceding the dinner dance. Arrangements should be made for a large evening—a baby-sitter's bonanza.

Alfred Emmerling is in charge of sparking up interest in this gala affair which will be highlighted by Zev Clay's music.

Even though it looked as though the fleet was in, with so many Navy boys home on vacation, there was one less sailor than reported last week. (Early deadlines, too much holiday and a careless reporter combined to make a big boo-boo.)

Bob Cey of Ovid looked splendid in his Air Force uniform and it is Great Lakes Naval Training's loss that he is stationed at Shepherd field in Texas, instead. The airman third class will return here Jan. 5.

It was his across-the-street buddy, Stewart Robertson, who brought back two stripes from basic seaman training. Stewart leaves Jan. 7 for New London and underwater sound training. John Rutledge of Lucere also looked natty in his nauticals and hosted his contemporaries at an open house Thursday evening.

The John Robertson's of Ovid renewed their acquaintance with an uncle they had not seen in 30-odd years. He is the honorable William Watson of the Cook Islands. A legislator of the 20-mile circumference island, he introduced his lovely Polynesian wife, Marie, and showed the Robertsons the same films of Tahiti he had used while lecturing at Carnegie Hall. The Watsons are on a year's world tour.

Orland Ellis of N. Cromwell filed his petition for justice of the peace last Friday. Ellis served one year as an appointee and was elected for two years in 1959. Now he seeks a four-year term in the Southfield township election.
