

Franklin Mr. and Mrs. Plan Beatnik Session

FRANKLIN—Like woe-man, the Mr. and Mrs. Club is launching a beat session this Friday p.m. at the Robert Love's pad, 30740 Kirk Lane. The Ward Thomases and the Arthur Marshalls are in the groove too.

Caps and chains will cut up at night and a half bells by the tick. They're bagging cool sounds from a wax machine and wild groceries. The group will fall by in threads for the scene.

Freely translated: it's a costume bit. Verse or worse will originate as part of the program. Masterpieces of art will be coaxed from those inclined. They expect a real rumble for this one, because Dad can keep his five o'clock shadow and he well dressed.

Twelfth Night parties came in assorted sizes over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kern and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kerr jointly hosted about 16 couples last Friday night at the Kern home on Franklin Hills Drive.

And things weep nightly gay at the Dr. John Burger home on Telegraph Road that night.

The Burgers, the Wallace Barzingers and the Thomas Lepines combined efforts and successfully surprised Mr. Ralph Smith with a stork shower. Present were not only Dr. Burger, Dr. Smith (the papa-in-waiting) and Dr. Gorkhe but also a life-size doctor dummy, in full operating room gear, with gauze mask, stethoscope and a table full of delivery room goodies.

With sides splitting from laughter throughout the evening it was reasonably comforting to know that so much emergency equipment was at hand.

Some of the husbands learned for the first time that the order in which packages are opened and to offer the community's congratulations.

A merry collection of travelers, or soon-will-be travelers, are gathering at the Harold Roseberry house on Wellington road Sunday at 5 p.m. to discuss plans for their trip to Europe this summer.

Under the guidance of the Roseberys, who've done this before, the tour includes 32 days on the continent with a private bus for their use in England and another in Europe. Because most of them are electric organ enthusiasts, belonging to allied clubs in Birmingham and Detroit, you can be sure the itinerary will include some of the world's most famous cathedral organs.

So far it appears that Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morrison, Dr. and Mrs. Murdoch Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Breth and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Garstecki will be in the Franklin contingent in the entourage.

The Maskal Wrights of Bingham Farms and the Clifford Baughs of Birmingham are also boning up on pass ports, inoculations and hits. Other area people are the Myron McKees, the Wallace Johnsons, the Norvin Jennerjohns and the Derkson Worders.

There's room for one more couple were told and interested parties are welcome to join the Sunday session to learn details.

S'field Provisional LWV Expands Board of Directors

SOUTHFIELD—The membership growth of the provisional League of Women Voters of Southfield has been accompanied by an expanded board of directors.

Mrs. Gene Nagler, 15096 Addison, will serve as chairman for the State Item I study area, concerned with data about a constitutional convention (Con-Con). Previously, Mrs. Michael Marlo, first vice-president of the provisional Southfield League provided the leadership for this study.

However, Mrs. Marlo's energies will now be utilized as Continuing Responsibility and Legislative Chairman. Stimulating interest in state government is one of the responsibilities of a Continuing Responsibility and Legislative Chairman in a League.

MRS. GIDEON Millar, 18211 Magnolia Parkway, has accepted appointment as chairman for State Item II, a study of metropolitan area problems. Findings relative to urban growth problems that need to be met in Michigan should provide fruitful information.

The enlarged board of directors of the Provisional Southfield League has set Jan. 26 as the next general membership meeting date.

Nursery School Parents to Hear Talk on Crafts

SOUTHFIELD—The meeting of the parents cooperative Family Life Nursery School at North Congregational Church will feature a talk on crafts for pre-school children. The speaker is Mrs. George Freeman.

Mrs. William Sargent of Southfield, program chairman, announced that Dr. Andrew Kalous, veterinarian, will relate ideas concerning children and their pets at the February parents' meeting. The Tuesday and Thursday morning sessions of the nursery school include free play and other activities. Recently the children enjoyed a visit from Donald Hunt, TV's Rwanda Ben and his chimpanzee Bongo Bailey.

The university of Michigan was the first university to have control placed in regents elected by the people. This is one reason it is known as the "mother" of state universities.
