

Pre-Schoolers Have 'Bang-Up' Celebration

EAST BEVERLY—Claudia and Caryl Shephard of Madeline and a dozen other pre-schoolers ended the year with a real bang. They beat the girls' stuffing out of a snowman "pinata" that set the theme for their Mexican-style out-and-beat party.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dotterer of Beedmore and their four sons took the holiday week for a Florida vacation and a visit with his parents in Clearwater. They returned in time for Mrs. Dotterer to assist Mrs. Bevan Stevenson with a bridal shower on Amherst for Sandra Evelyn Dearborn. A late supper was served to 18 of the family gathered to honor the bride elect.

Dr. and Mrs. Maynard R. Bailey, Christine and Bob, of Arlington celebrated with a party in Chicago's Conrad Hilton. Their trip included shopping, the theater, gourmet dining and tours of the big three of the Windy City's museums.

Other Chicago visitors were the Jack Magres of Beedwood. They gathered with so many of the clan in suburban Evanston that the senior Magres made time tables to avoid confusion.

Chicagoans came here, too. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wick are guests of the Paul Stockers on Buckingham for the entire month of January. And with Marianne's guest Sue Rich, of Battle Creek, that made six trainers for her prized Christmas gift, a six-week old pedigree cocker.

The Russell Carters, also of Buckingham, toured the capital Gettysburg on their holiday. Young Russ is a Civil War buff already, though he's only eight.

SOUTH BERKSHIRES — The Donald Radars of Leemoor saw Judith Ann head back east when she returned to the Chamberlain School of Retailing in Boston, Mass. after a holiday visit.

Other eastern tourists were Mr. and Mrs. William Hess of Woodhaven who took the week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hess and their three grandchildren in Valley Forge.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ross of Enahasy visited both their families when they traveled to Tennessee, stopping in Fayetteville and Shelbyville.

The Joseph A. Lokars of Plantation lane invited family and friends to a buffet supper celebrating his birthday last Thursday. Previously they were hosts at a holiday open house when friends were introduced to new neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. George Street.

Mrs. Harold Vots of Vernon drive will be hostess for the Wednesday board meeting and coffee of the South Berkshires' women's association. Plans for "Ladies Day Out" Feb. 7 will be the main business that morning.
