Hearings B'field B of E Okays Plans For Additions

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — At a meeting of Bloomfield Hills Board of Education Tuesday night, architectural plans for additions to Pine Lake and Eastover schools were approved by the board. The plans were drawn up by the architectural firm of Tarapata-MacMahon. Bids on the additions will be let in February, if voters in the school district approve the additions to finance construction. The school election is scheduled for Jan. 30.

A REPORT ON construction progress of an addition to Conant elementary school was made to the board. This addition is to be built regardless of the outcome of the bond election. It will be financed by $100,000 remaining in a bond issue fund, voted on in 1959. The report indicated that the Conant addition will be ready for the September school term.

President Clige said, "However, members of civic associations or a group of people can negotiate with a contractor to have several connections done at once." "The village will supervise the installation," he continued. "A contractor must secure a permit first and then the village engineers must inspect the work so that it meets our requirements." Clige said village officials will meet with subdivision heads to discuss the benefits to group installations.

RETURNING TO the difference between the bids and the estimated cost, the council noted that most of the costs were from 7 to 15 per cent more than anticipated. One was 22 per cent more than expected.

Boom

As explained by Lee, is based on projected growth figures. Present elementary school capacity is for 1,975 students, with the present enrollment at 1,994. The proposed new buildings would bring capacity up to 2,850 pupils. Moderate growth figures anticipate an elementary enrollment in four years of 2,710 pupils.

A SLIDE SHOWING where the school board has determined the need for additional schools in future years was shown the audience. The bond issue provides for the purchase of four school sites. "With the purchase of these four sites, we will have acquired all the land necessary to erect all schools needed for all time within this district," Lee assured the audience. Lee stated that purchasing land at this time would save money for the school district. "If we wait until land becomes scarce in the district, we will, like Detroit, have to pay exorbitant prices for school sites that will be needed."

A MICHIGAN State educational survey team, has made studies for the school board, as to the total needs in the school district when the district reaches a population saturation of an estimated 50,000 residents. The survey figures show that the district can expect, at that point, to have 5,250 elementary pupils, 2,450 junior high pupils and 2,200 high school students. Lee used these figures to point up the student growth problem, which the bond issue would solve for the ensuing four years.

Cop Snatches Petrified Pooch From Icy Bank

BEVERLY HILLS — Two Patrolmen and a police sergeant went fishing Monday afternoon, using a rope and rubber boots as bait. Their catch was one forlorn pooch and the four-footed applause of a howling canine cheering section. The dog, a large brown and white collie, was spotted by Mrs. Myra Riecke, 21300 W. 13 Mile Road, who heard the yowling chorus and summoned police. The pooch was unharmed about 20 feet away from shore in mid-stream.

Patrolmen Gerald Hunter and Gerald Durden were sent to the scene to attempt a rescue. Before their feet were barely wet, a false alarm came in to the Beverly Fire Department and they were called in by the dispatcher.

TAKING THEIR place, Sgt. Fred Bielman tied a rope to a tree on the bank of the river, let himself down onto the ice and crawled out to capture the desperate dog. His next problem was separating himself from the pooch who insisted on following. Five around until the owner, Joseph Brandt, 32250 Plumwood, picked up his pet from the Beverly police station.

Bielman, who once rescued a bunny, doesn't think it's funny, as far as he is concerned, it's all in a day's work.
