

Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills Society Notes

By JOYCE KLARR

Have you done your homework, yet? We're referring to this month's issue of Fortune Confidential. You were supposed to read the article on life in Bloomfield Hills in order to speak knowingly pro or con at parties on patios, in pools, over tables, under tables, in locker rooms and on the links. Even if you don't like the magazine, it looks nice lying on the coffee table. For an added touch you might place the Harvard Business Review and Winnie the Pooh nearby too (they're smaller and won't cover the table).

We're naturally suspicious of any tome which categorically groups people (I've never met two exactly alike, have you?) so we approached the article warily. As we feared, it was the same old thing that has been done so much lately.

THE PERILS of Pauline were suburban living. However, it does make a nice light summer reading, especially if you aren't an automotive executive or the son of one. We loved the reference to the "waiting areas" or lower suburbia. Could they be comparing Birmingham to lower Siberia? The most amusing touch was the bit about a state's juvenile delinquency in Bloomfield-Hills—where the kiddies supposedly slash each other's convertible tops (with imported shivs, we trust).

All the furor is fun whether or not you believe what you read. My attitude is ho hum, but I salute Fortune magazine—as a circulator lion booster, their July article can't be beaten, especially around here—but what are they going to do for August?

Fishy Story

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Evans entertained at dinner at the Bloomfield Hills country club last week. Highlight of the menu was the salmon landed on Mr. Evans' recent fishing expedition in Quebec.

The Visitors

Mrs. Norman Frizelle and her daughter of Dallas are visiting the W. H. Burmans.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Clarhom of Los Altos, California are spending a few days with Mrs. James A. Morton.

Kim Grandage daughter of former Birminghamites, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Grandage who now live in New Jersey, is visiting Charlon McMath daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McMath.

Over There

Enterprising Leroy E. Kiefer, Jr. came home last week. He has been in Europe the past few years. The first twelve months abroad were spent with an army language unit, eight hours a day, five days a week learning the Czech language (it's not surprising—I can't even spell Czechoslovakia). After two years as an army interpreter, he dissociated himself from the army and for the past year has been selling foreign cars to navy men on leave in Europe.

Miss Margaret E. Marr is touring Europe. Her trip will include a visit with Maria Niderdorf of Olten, Switzerland. The two met on a boat to England four years ago and have been fast friends ever since.

Moving Days

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nadal will be leaving Birmingham soon. A business transfer is responsible for the move and they will make their home on the Palo Verde peninsula overlooking the ocean near Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. O'Reilly have planned a dinner party for this Saturday.

The Frederick Colombos were hosts at a dinner last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bartholomew will move shortly to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Collins, Jr. will make their home in Ann Arbor now that Mr. Collins has joined the University of Michigan staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Smith have returned from Florida and will move into a home on Shadow Brook in Bloomfield Hills.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. O'Reilly have planned a dinner party for this Saturday.

Newlywed F. H. Mableys Residing in Georgia

Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hollister Mabley are residing at Athens, Ga., following their June 24 wedding at the First Presbyterian Church in Arlington Heights, Ill. Mrs. Mabley is the former Emma Judith Grose of Arlington Heights.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grose of Arlington Heights. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Hollister Mabley of Lowell Court, Bloomfield Hills.

THE BRIDE appeared in a gown of pure silk white organza over bluish taffeta designed with a scoop neckline, cap sleeves and a fitted bodice with folds of the organza marking the waistline. A tiny crown of pearls secured her fingertip veil of French Silk illusion. She carried a spray of white roses and variegated ivy foliage.

Ray Mabley, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jane Bray, Sally Lease and Joyce Mueller.

of tinted lavender carnations and sterling silver roses.

Donald McNeal stood as best man and ushers were Fred Harley, David Bray, Windham Bremer and Richard Lyons.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Grose selected a cream French dress with a light pink ruffled corsage. Mother of the bridegroom chose a dusty pink chiffon with an orchid corsage.

Makes Dean's List

Richard J. Lystra of Westwood Drive, Birmingham, was among 310 students named to the dean's honor list at Flint Community Junior College second semester.
