

Donna Lee Kramer Weds Dennis Charles McRea

Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church was the scene Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Donna Lee Kramer and Dennis Charles McRea. The Rev. Andrew Rauh performed the four o'clock ceremony in the presence of the immediate families. A family dinner followed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Kramer of Grosse Pointe Farms and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McRea of Lincoln Drive, Birmingham.

THE BRIDE wore a short white silk taffeta gown featuring a flared skirt, scoop neckline and short sleeves. A matching pillow secured her short veil of silk illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and ivy.

Odetta is her name and she will be in town this Saturday and Sunday night.

Who is Odetta? I drew the same blank when I first heard that name about four months ago. Since then I've been Odetta brain washed via her records and the movie, Sanctuary, and have learned that this particular thrush is indeed a very hot property. She sings the finest of folk songs and the best of the blues.

Odetta was born in Birmingham, Ala. She moved to Los Angeles with her family and took singing lessons in junior high but gave them up because of her own lack of interest. After high school, she took a job as a housekeeper and resumed her musical studies at night. It was during this time that she became interested in folk singing and very laboriously taught herself to play the guitar.

Odetta was in the audience at the Hungry in San Francisco one night when she was asked to sing. An instant success she was booked at the Tin Angel where she plays a year. Having conquered the west coast, she took New York by storm during her engagement at the Blue Angel.

Her appearances include a Belefonte TV spectacular (what more could a girl ask?) and the Ed Sullivan show. The list of her personal appearances is a long one, most prominent being the Newport jazz festival and Carnegie hall.

AND NOW—naturally, the high point of her career is her appearance among us at the Birmingham Arts Festival. Saturday night she will sing folk songs and Sunday the blues—in the dome at Shain park. See you there?

Innocents Abroad

Mandy Matthews, daughter of the E. Curtis Matthews and junior at the University of Michigan, will attend the summer session at the University of Hawaii. Marcia Kempf, who is majoring in German at the University of Michigan, sailed from Montreal this week for Salzburg, Austria to attend summer school. Richard Krugaw, a Dartmouth junior, will be in Arcana, Italy, for the summer on an exchange grant.

Former Birminghamites, the William R. Trucey of Naples, Fla., are staying at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club for a few days before occupying the M. Steinmeyers home. Mr. and Mrs. Vehmeyer will spend their summer days at their lodge at Westport, Maine.

Bishop Robert L. Dewitt and Mrs. Dewitt, who now live in Farmington will spend their summer at Isle au Haut off the coast of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail Smith of Bloomfield Hills will move soon to the former home of the William Breeches on Long Lake. Mrs. Smith before her marriage was Barbara Whiting of radio, TV and movie fame, sister of equally well known singer, Margaret Whiting. Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Richard Whiting is here from her home in Los Angeles to stay until August.

MEANWHILE, back at the Arts Festival... (patience, Prudence, it will be over in a week—then it's back to teas, toasts and who was seen where) This coming Monday night in Shain park, the winner of the Detroit Windsor theater group drama festival will present their prize winning Dark At The Top Of The Stairs. For rags you and yours won't want to miss the film night in the dome. The Golden Age of Comedy will be presented Wednesday night with excerpts from the Cinema's funniest moments.

You know of the Gourmet Magazine. I've talked to the chef and he has a succulent set up all planned. Even do it yourself crepe suzettes—the easy way. That will be Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, June 21.

Especially for the children, the Vanguard Theater of Detroit (that's our excellent repertory group) will present their musical play "Bambles, Thursday afternoon, June 22 at 2:30. We know of several birthday parties for the small fry being planned around the show, but you really don't need an excuse to gather up the neighborhood youngsters for an afternoon of real live theater. Anything to keep them away from the boob tube for awhile!

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shaw of Martell drive have just returned from a motor trip through the East, highlight of which was the graduation of their son, Douglas from the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Road Show

Speaking of graduations, we know of no greater devotion than Mr. and Mrs. Dean Coffin displayed after the closing performance of St. Dunstan's Guys and Dolls. As soon as the house lights were up and the applause had died away, Winnie jumped off the stage, grabbed Mr. C's hand and they were off for the long drive to Cleveland to attend their son's 9:30 a.m. graduation from Western Reserve academy. They made it in time—and even stayed awake through the whole ceremony.
