Four Boys Attend Wolverine Boys' State

BEVERLY HILLS—Only days after school let out for the summer, courses started all over again for four college boys: John Keiser of Beechwood, Jim Hohmeyer of Hillcrest, Richard McIntyre of Kinsshire and Bob Reberger of Birchwood were all tapped for Wolverine Boys' State.

Coming up—a naval ROTC cruise from Norfolk to Bermuda and Halifax and Zeta Beta Tau's Chicago convention in August. Richard, who just graduated from Albion, goes on to medical school at Ann Arbor and plans to practice pediatrics like Dr. Maurice Weiner.

The four Graves students headed for Lansing last Thursday for a week's civics course at MSU. The boys learned government in action by holding actual elections and then discharging the responsibilities of their elective office.

VALLEY WOODS—The Burton Scholastics of Farmington spent a week in Boston recently. It was his tenth reunion with Harvard Business School grads and a chance to revisit Cambridge with old friends from Cleveland, Ohio.

Though the American Legion backed the program, each boy was sponsored by a different club. The Exchange Club sponsored John; Jim and Bob represented Central Kiwanis of Detroit and Birmingham Kiwanis the Birmingham Lions sent Richard.

FUNGUS
This vicious lawn killer is on a rampage this year, attacking lawns in all directions. If your lawn has yellow or brown streaks, or patches of burned grass, it is in for serious trouble unless steps are taken to combat this most severe type of all fungus diseases. It will attack the roots as well as the leaves if allowed to remain unchecked.

We are equipped with the most modern materials and equipment to combat this ravaging menace. And it is far less expensive than replacing your entire lawn. This thing is more serious than most people suspect. If your lawn is infested, as it most likely is, call us for diagnosis and quotation. You'll be glad you did, and you are under no obligation.

BIRMINGHAM
telephone lines
By AL WARNER, Manager

MANY OF US who have watched the satellite Echo move across the night sky realize that the project gave America a clear lead in space communications. However, the longer we delay in setting up the first satellite system, the more we risk losing our lead.

The Bell Telephone System has offered to build and pay for experimental satellites. It is willing to pay for their launching and for the ground stations in the U. S. (Foreign ground stations would be owned by foreign communications agencies.) There would be no cost to the taxpayer.

The Bell System's interest in space stems from the fact that a space communications system would be a natural extension of networks used in providing service to the public today. Bell seeks no monopoly and does not wish to exclude other international carriers either from establishing satellite communications systems or from sharing use of the system it proposes. This system would be operated under government regulation just as today's communications systems are operated.

What could offer a better means to serve the public's interest in a broader communications network for tomorrow!

EVER WONDER how a telephone lineman knows the safety strap he wears when working atop poles is dependable? Like all equipment our people use, the straps must meet rigid standards. Nothing is left to chance. These safety straps are made of several layers of tough fabric. When the outer layer wears thin, the contrasting color of the next layer shows it's time to get a new belt. A small thing—but one reason why telephone people are six times safer than those in most other industries.

It's the second big June event for the Fred H. Keiser, too. June 4 they drove to Springfield, Ohio to see Richard graduate from Wittensoy.

The (golf) show was on the other foot last week. Many a work-wear male waited dinner till wife returned from the National Open. Mrs. Bernard Hengeshausch of Marquette, Mrs. Thomas Raleigh of Beechwood and Mrs. Edward Gurry of Kinross saw all the "grains" Wednesday, but the Hengeshauschs made it up to the golf widowers Saturday with cocktails and dinner for the Raleighs, Gurrys and Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Murphy of Birmingham.

Mrs. Harry Day of Riverside said the local hot spell was nothing compared to that at El Paso. She spent a week in Texas recently visiting her daughter whose husband is stationed there.

Daughter finally got to bake the cake for mother, when Mrs. George Campbell's birthday occurred during her visit with the Bud Leys of Beverly. From Miami, Fla., spent two weeks in the village.

The pale pinks and ice blues that graced the tea table at Mrs. Alvin H. Knorr's Bedford June 13 were most appealing in the summer heat. The occasion was a bathroom shower for Saturday's bride, Elaine Palmer.

A real "glaze" for Marilyn Kaners, daughter of the Victor Kaners of Hillcrest, was present at last Saturday's dance social by Mrs. Sammie's students. Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hockett came from Iroquois Island near Coldwater for the real and a Father's Day celebration Sunday.

Mrs. Ray Fisher and Mark joined the Sales Training convention at Williamsburg for a week—but only as spectators. While he led off the speechmaking, they sunned at near by Virginia Beach.

The Warren Whiteheads of Bedford returned recently from a 10-day trip that started in Chicago at a bankers' convention. After checking out of the Edgewater Beach, they drove north to visit friends in Lake Harbor, Wis. and relax at Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island.

SOUTH BERRKSHIRES—Stephen Welter is home for the summer. At least, four weeks of it. After finishing his junior year at Miami in Oxford, Ohio, he made two interesting trips to Lahar Road and others to Toronto and Milwaukee for the fraternity he now heads.

County Postmasters Elect Curtis Officer

SOUTHFIELD—Charles L. Curtis, Southfield postmaster, was elected secretary-treasurer of the Oakland County Association of Postmasters last week at a meeting at the Birmingham Community House.

Big Brother Program Next Optimist Topic

SOUTHFIELD—The Southfield Optimist Club will meet June 22 to hear a talk on "Big Brother Movement."
