

Each of us, every day, is provided with much time to do a variety of things. Do we resolve, more often than not, to "go out of our way" to say or do something nice for another? The "another" probably would count your thoughtfulness, kindness, as a very splendid, even wonderful, experience to receive. Do you not thrill to receiving similar treatment? "Do it yourself!"

U of M Professor To Speak At AAUW Luncheon

"Conflicts of the Day—the Philosophy of News" will be discussed Wednesday in the Birmingham Community House by Prof. Wesley H. Maurer, chairman of the department of Journalism at the University of Michigan.

Hearing Prof. Maurer at the 12:30 p.m. luncheon will be members of the American Association of University Women and guests in the newspaper field. This month past presidents of this 40 year old organization will be honored also.

PROF. MAURER is widely known throughout the area. In addition to the numerous college students, many still in newspaper work, Prof. Maurer has influenced many through the adult education discussion group conducted by him in the Backham building for the past 30 years.

This forum discusses recently published books and is known as "Current Affairs and World Events." It is the oldest continuing study group in the United States and numbers among its participants several of the original members.

PROF. MAURER is a member of the Michigan Newspaper Association. He is an editorial writer and consultant for several publications. A unique way of teaching Journalism was developed by him at U of M. Students there publish the "Michigan Journalist," which is nationally circulated to publishers, editors and teachers of journalism. Another feature of his department is the graduate program offering journalism students where, by the student learns by working on top newspapers throughout the United States, Japan and South America.

HE ALSO TAKES foreign exchange students and after two years of study, they spend a year working on four Michigan newspapers.

Prof. Maurer has been chairman of department of Journalism since 1948. He is a member of the advisory committee on adult education jointly sponsored by Wayne State and the University of Michigan.

HE IS CHAIRMAN of the Senate of U of M, a governing body of the university, and a co-chairman of the Ann Arbor Citizen's Council. He has been active in many professional and honorary organizations.

Show Time at Red Run Golf Club

Attending a "Gay Nineties" party at Red Run Golf club Friday evening were (from left sitting) Mr. and Mrs. Edmond J. Walsh of Burning Bush Road and Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Diedrich of Ridgedale Road. Also joining the group were (standing) Mr. and Mrs. Colin Campbell of Broadway Boulevard.

Swing Time

Whirling around the ballroom at the club Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Herrold of Westlady Drive, Beverly Hills. Others seen kicking up their heels were the Anthony Caputis and the John Dunns Jr., both of Bloomfield Hills.

Duo-Piano Team Highlights Program

"Music and Song" will be the theme when Birmingham Musicales members and guests meet for their next regular concert on March 9 in the Birmingham Community House at 1:30 p.m.

This theme will be interpreted and developed by a favorite duo-piano team and by the Musicales' popular Choral Ensemble. Charles Erdmann is chairman of the day. Mrs. Burke Bartlett, hostess chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. William R. Rudell and Mrs. John C. Wright, Jr.

THE DUO-PIANO team, composed of Mrs. Dorothy Kohn Rose and Mrs. Gladys H. Stanton, will highlight the program, performing the First Sonata in E Flat Major by Beethoven, and the Brahms Variations on a Theme by Haydn.

Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt, senior member of the duo-piano team, had a fine education in music at Lidget School where she was graduated in 1917. After two years of violin and piano study in New York City, she attended the American Conservatory in Fontainebleau, France, where she studied piano with Isidor Phillips.

DURING THE years of her marriage to G. Hall Roosevelt, and while her three daughters were young, concertizing and teaching were of necessity put aside. Public service and politics claimed her attention from 1940 to 1946.

However, since 1946 she has taught piano in the Birmingham area and has performed as soloist and as part of a two-piano team here and throughout the country.

MRS. CHARLES H. HUNTON, newest member of the team, is a graduate of Cornell University with a language major. A resident of Birmingham for the last ten years, it was during her study of piano with Mrs. Roosevelt that she became interested in doing two-piano numbers. Mark Wessels of Birmingham has been of much assistance to the team in their study and development.

The Birmingham Musicales Choral Ensemble with Alice Ingram, Director, and Mrs. Phillip Wiehan, accompanist, will open and close the program with groups of songs. Included in the first group will be "Inflammatus" by Pergolesi and Mozart's "Allouja" will close the program.

OF SPECIAL interest in the second group will be the premiere performance of "A Summer Morn" with music written by Dr. John R. Phelps, well known to Birmingham residents as well as Detroiters as a composer and musician. The lyrics to "A Summer Morn" were written by one of Birmingham Musicales' own members—Mrs. Phillip R. Flanders.

Featured in the solo lines of the concert numbers will be Mrs. Walter W. Starr and Mrs. Richard O. Ruppel, sopranos.

MRS. A. P. Fontaine, Tea Chairman, has asked Mrs. Joseph Beckley, Mrs. John Dancke, Mrs. Elwin C. Green and Mrs. Charles J. Shain to pour at the traditional tea served immediately following the program. Tea hostesses assisting include Mrs. Charles Richards, Mrs. Colin S. Grant-Watters, Mrs. Harry Gross, Mrs. C. A. Morgan, Mrs. William Jackson, Esther M. Jansen, Mrs. Dorothy Leakey, Mrs. David Mitchell, Mrs. H. C. Morgan, Mrs. William Rodger and Mrs. H. Scharf.

Mrs. R. DiMarco Heads Committee

When noted sculptor Gwen Lux and her architect-editor husband, Thomas Crane, made their appearance at the Detroit Institute of Arts Lecture series Tuesday, her sister, Mrs. R. DiMarco of Dunstan Road, Bloomfield Hills, headed the committee for the reception which followed the lecture.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. DiMarco, others on the committee were Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs III, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wardrop and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Winston, all of Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

Parents Reveal Daughter's Troth

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sterling Cole of Toledo, Ohio, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sterling Holmel, to Thomas Fothergill Stoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Engman Stoll of Niagara Lane, Birmingham.

The bride-elect is a student at Northwestern University. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. Her fiancé is a senior at the University of Notre Dame.

An early fall wedding is planned.

Web Wonders

Bouncing over the countryside in a Model-T Ford in Maine, Mrs. Arthur Lougee of Greenwood Street, Birmingham, startles the natives with her spray gun as she pursues her hobby of spraying unusual spider webs.

This interesting and unusual hobby all came about two years ago when Mrs. Lougee, director of design at Cranbrook Institute, was given a summer assignment to collect spiders and webs for the Museum. Being an artistic person, Mrs. Lougee was side-tracked with the beauty in various spider webs.

WHILE VACATIONING at their summer home in Maine, Mrs. Lougee found some interesting spider webs which she collected, sprayed them for greater visibility and mounted them. At the present time, they are on display and for sale at del Gaudios in Birmingham and the Boston Museum of Science. Mrs. Lougee remarked that the orb webs are found in woods and gardens.

BORN IN Detroit, Mrs. Lougee received most of her education in the east. She attended Antioch College for three years and the Boston Museum School, where she majored in art. Following graduation, she taught at the Boston Museum, Fine Manor Junior College and Dana Hall, Wellesley, Mass.

In 1937, Laura became the wife of Arthur Lougee, who was teaching art in Boston for the Child-Walker School and free lancing as an illustrator. Laura at that time, was designing furniture for individuals and hospitals.

IN 1941 another member was added to the Lougee's in home... a son, David, was born. He is at present a student at Williams College. They have two other children, Eleanor, who is a student at Gould Academy in Bethel, Maine; and Jim, who is studying at Barnum Junior College.

The Lougee family moved to Birmingham in 1946. Mr. Lougee became art director of the Ford Times. He has recently been elected president of the National Association of Art Directors.

LAURA IS responsible for the exhibits at Cranbrook Institute. Her hobbies include water coloring, collecting insects and embedding them in plastic, reading and stamp collection. She is also a member of the League of Women Voters.
