or painted. The ice-making machinery in the back room of the building is prepared and the brine refrigerator has to be mixed and tested.

When this complicated process is done, the brine is fed into approximately eight or nine of the crutcheville tennis court, Bill explained.

Then the flooding begins.

"We worked 12-hour shifts, mostly at night, and after about four days the rink was ready." Bill estimated the rink would be used until about the beginning of March or until the temperature is in the 50's.

"O S C A R S O M E B O D Y," is probably the oldest skater, Bill said. He's about 78 and skates here quite regularly.

All age groups use the rink from pre-schoolers to senior citizens. "Very few people get hurt, the most serious injury was a dislocated shoulder."

"There's some real fights on hockey nights though," said Bill, and "thinks get pretty exciting." The kids keep him busy at times, particularly as they cope with the vending machines to get candy or a cold drink. Sometimes he has to "explain why a nickel won't work in a machine that deals in dimes."

Youngsters, especially like the "Grand March" which is a feature on weekend nights and teenagers are given to bringing in "rock and roll" records over the weekend for the public-address system.

THE SON OF Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Phillips, 1047 Bernalville, Birmingham, has obviously been trained to accept responsibility.

His duties at the rink range from assisting with the resurfacing of the rink to keeping the fireplace filled in the warming room where skaters avoid skates.

He said the rink was opened this year in late November, "when the weather got down around 30 degrees." It took about three weeks working time to prepare it for use.

"Let's face it, it's a bit of a mess when we start," he said. The crew must not only flood the court, used for tennis in the summer, but has a clean-up job in the warming room.

683 times around the world...they pounded the pavements and proved that concrete outperforms asphalt these ways...

17 million miles of test traffic in 2 years... loads up to 54 tons

Sponsored by the American Association of State Highway Officials (AASHTO), the $7 million dollar National Road Test was set up to establish basic facts of design and construction for concrete and asphalt pavements.

Test pavements were built on the same soil, to carry the same vehicle loads to designs currently used in various states. 99 loaded trucks—pickups to semi-trailers—pounded them 19 hours a day for 2 years. Millions of scientific measurements were made.

The test has demonstrated concrete's superiority for streets, roads and Interstate highwayway!
