Oakland County GOP Women Review Past, Plan Future

The Republican women of Oakland County reviewed their past accomplishments last Thursday and declared they are in politics to stay.

At a press luncheon in Hazel Park, presidents and publicity chairmen of the county's 16 Republican women's clubs outlined a year's leadership program for 1961 aimed at extending GOP women's activities into "every nook and cranny in Oakland County."

Mrs. Kay Nos, Huntington Woods, publicity director of the council of clubs, cited the group's meteoric growth from two to 16 clubs in 1960.

"Our goal in 1961 is nothing less than to double our total of participating clubs from 16 to 32," Mrs. Nos said.

"And we're well on our way," she added, referring to the new clubs being organized in Novi and Berkley.

COUNTY GOP CHAIRMAN Arthur G. Elliott, Jr., described the county-wide network of women's clubs as "perhaps the greatest single factor" in the GOP's election sweep in Oakland county in 1960.

"Thousands of the house women gave selflessly of their time and talent to give partisan political activity a positive new meaning when it if needed most—at the neighborhood level," Elliott said.

In reviewing the organization's 1960 campaign activities, Mrs. Irma Liverance, 416 Hawthorne, Birmingham, council president, said club members contributed significantly "in virtually every area of the campaign."

"We stuffed and licked envelopes, rang doorbells, staged a successful tea for Mrs. Nixon, held candidates rallies, sold jewelry, conducted a record-breaking neighbor-to-neighbor finance drive, and sponsored 305 coffees for individual candidates," she said.

MRS. LIVERANCE lauded the army of women volunteers included "young brides and grandmothers, housewives and career girls, women from all kinds of backgrounds."

"And on election day, we stood in the rain at the polling places, or served as baby-sitters and taxi drivers to help voters get to the polls," she said.

"We're setting up study groups on Con-Con and other key governmental issues," she explained. "We're working out a town-hall type of program to bring nationally known speakers into the county on a year-round basis. We will be conducting field trips to the state legislature, setting up research libraries for each club, working with youth groups, and serving on key committees within the regular county GOP organization."

MRS. LIVERANCE said the GOP women would strive toward "a vast and challenging program to increase the individual women's understanding of the importance and procedures of political parties, to build her enthusiasm for the Republican party and offer her a coordinated program of activity within the party."
