

There is, naturally, a repetition of the seasons in every climate—yet in the northern areas of the North American continent this repetition does bring changes that provide one with a variety of interests. From spring's green foliage to winter's white blanket of snow, there are in-between colorations and recreational pursuits to suit all. Are you one who manages to enjoy something from each season?

Kingswood School

Auld Lang Syne Is Mood Theme For Return Visit

By BETSY WRIGHT
Special Writer

On April 21, Kingswood welcomed back Miss Laurie Lindemulder, former music teacher. Although she is now studying for her MA at the University of Michigan, Miss Lindemulder returned to Kingswood to see old friends and was good enough to play several piano selections for us in assembly.

"PSYCHOLOGY and Religion" was chosen as the topic of the year's spring conference, a cabinet-sponsored project. Dr. McClusky, professor of psychology at the University of Michigan, spoke on this subject at the conference held last Friday evening.

After Dr. McClusky's talk, the juniors and seniors of Kingswood and Cranbrook attending were divided into discussion groups. A question period followed in which Dr. McClusky answered questions.

KINGSWOOD was hostess to three other schools, Bloomfield Convent, Bloomfield Hills High School and Grosse Pointe University School, for a lacrosse playdown on Saturday.

The playday, the first one of its kind held in this part of the country, was planned for the purpose of furthering interest in the game.

Kingswood Offers Summer Courses

Developmental reading will be one of six courses offered at the 1961 summer school for high school students sponsored by Kingswood School Cranbrook.

Applications are being accepted for the six weeks' school which runs from June 19 to August 11. Eligible students are girls and boys in grades 9 through 12. Courses are non-credit and are designed to offer stimulating skills to students at these grade levels.

Three sections of developmental reading are scheduled. Other classes offered are creative writing, college preparatory composition, advanced mathematics, typing techniques and French conversation and dictation.

BLOOMFIELD COUNTRY DAY

Slide Talk Replaces Students' Study Hall

By CYNTHIA GEISLER
Special Writer

On April 21, Mr. John Booth took the school and showed colored slides of Europe to the girls. The slides proved both educational and entertaining to the girls, especially to those who are now studying Europe in their history classes. As the slides took the place of a regular study hall, Mr. Booth's return would be welcomed by all any-

ON THE SAME afternoon Miss Susan Dickinson, representative of Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y., visited the school and showed slides of the school grounds, the students and school activities. Afterwards there was a question and answer period conducted by Miss Dickinson.

ON APRIL 26, Bloomfield Country Day School dais and daughters gathered for their second annual father-daughter banquet.

Promptly at 7:15 fathers and daughters filed into the all-purpose room where a buffet dinner was served. The banquet tables were decorated with flower centerpieces of roses, mums, daisies and daffodils arranged by Marilyn Johnson and her committee.

The highlight of the evening was the initiation of Miss Sallie into the Dad's Club as an honorary member. After dinner the girls entertained their fathers. Marilyn Johnson pantomimed "I Enjoy Being a Girl", Claudia MacPherson pantomimed "My Heart Belongs to Daddy", Nancy Judd, Joanne Shaye and Carol Haveline pantomimed "Lollipop" and Sue Bird did an interpretive dance to "Night Train."

FOR THE GRAND finale, the seniors and juniors sang Irving Berlin's "Sisters" in chorus. After a short speech by Mr. Robert Vanderkloot, the banquet was brought to a close.

Seaholm Students Need Donations Of Bikes for Tykes

Sociology students at Seaholm High School need bicycles.

The class, under the direction of Don Grothe, wants to help the Oakland County Children's Home by providing bicycles and tricycles for the youngsters.

The class members are willing to make any necessary repairs and are presently seeking donations from area residents.

Persons who have bicycles or tricycles they wish to give to the students can contact Don Grothe at Seaholm High, Frank Wieland, 18201 Buckingham, Beverly Hills.

Barnum Students Work on Exhibit

Some of the projects produced by Barnum Junior High School industrial arts classes are on display this week in the show windows of the First Federal Savings Bank.

This exhibit includes various kinds of wood and metal work which have been planned and made by the boys in the seventh, eighth and ninth grade classes of Marilyn Smiley and Walter Waslewski.

School Colors Used at Prom

Detroit Country Day School was the scene April 22 of the Junior Prom, with the class of 1962 entitled "Misty." Co-Chairmen were Lawrie MacMillan and Jerry Brozo.

The decorations of blue and gold, the school colors, and the "Misty" effects were created by Neil Satovsky and Jim Tann. Gerry Lambert was chairman of refreshments and Robert Parrish handled finances.

Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. J. Glenn Brozo of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacMillan of Southfield, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Satovsky of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. John Gleason of Birmingham.

AMONG THE GUESTS were Mr. and Mrs. James Doe of the Faculty and Mr. Chatfield who is the class supervisor. Mr. F. Alden Shaw, headmaster and Mrs. Shaw also made a brief appearance.

Chris Hundertmark was crowned Queen of the Prom. Patricia Robb and Miss Sara Merzweiler were crowned as princesses by Lawrie MacMillan, with Jerry Brozo escorting the girls to the stage. Guests danced to the music of Bob Durant.

After the prom, the junior class was invited back to the MacMillan's for breakfast.
