Fashions and Funnies Score Hit at 2 Events

By BETSY WRIGHT Special Writer

The last weeks before the end of school are usually the busiest. Among the more recent events to take place were the two remaining class projects to earn money for next year's AFS students.

On May 12, the seniors held AFS day, on which everyone could wear any length skirt and any type of shoe—within reason, of course—provided they paid the cost of one ticket. Needless to say, this project was a great success.

EQUALLY POPULAR was the annual Junior Fashion Show on Friday. Nearly every girl in the junior class modeled an outfit of her own, all centering around the theme "Where the Girls Are," while mistress of ceremonies Erma Jean Livingstone commented on the clothing.

The committees responsible for the smooth-running production were headed by Judy Bartholomew, Jean Livingstone, Angela Daddon, tickets; Sally Fed, decorations; and Betty Fuchs, publicity.

Next on the agenda was the Founder's Day Celebration, a yearly tradition originated by the George G. Booths, founders of the Cranbrook Institutions. The celebration, held last Sunday, is now given in honor of the Booths and the special guests are the members of the Boards of Directors in the Cranbrook foundation.

After a special church service and luncheon at Cranbrook School, the directors were invited to a tea at Cranbrook House. Also invited to the reception were the faculties of the several Cranbrook Institutions, the sixth graders of Brookside School, and the seniors of Kingswood and Cranbrook.

AMATEUR NIGHT held last Saturday at Cranbrook gave both Kingswood and Cranbrook talent a chance to show their skill. A sing and dance "jamboree" act and a record pantomime of "Big Boy Pete" were two of the enjoyable performances turned in by Kingswood girls.

Members of the Monday Bowling League receiving trophies were Jean Yohes and Jean Van Loan for high games; Sally Kelly for high series and Sue Tiedman for the most improved bowler. Awards for the Thursday afternoon league were presented to Dawn Martin and Sue Monroe for their high averages; Linda Wheeler for her high game and high series and Chris Ryan for the most improved bowler.

Awards for the Thursday afternoon league were presented to Dawn Martin and Sue Monroe for their high averages; Linda Wheeler for her high game and high series and Chris Ryan for the most improved bowler.

Ranking first place in the Monday Bowling league was the team of Liz Messer, Jean Van Loan, Kathy Pilling, Joyce Root and Judy Gontz. Receiving the same honor for the Thursday league were Dawn Martin, Peggy Mansfield, Sue Monroe, Laurine Love and Bea Stumpf.

Certificates and pins were given to members of GAA who were qualified for them.

Member of the Seaholm Water Ballet "AquaBelles," were awarded pins for outstanding work and service. Third-year members of the group are Fran Caldwell, Judy Christie, Greenleaf, Eleanor Hall, Marg McLeod, Trudy Putz and Holly Shuler.

Officers for the past year have been Sally Garlick, president; Sharon Woodburn, vice-president; Lucy Bowen, secretary; Kathy Pilling, treasurer; Judy Gontz, historian; and Sue Parkins, public relations.

A WONDERLAND theme was presented in the 1961 J-Hop held Saturday night in the Seaholm gym.

The dance, entitled "Palais de Glace," or Ice Palace, was given from 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. in honor of this year's graduating seniors by the junior class. The featured bands were those of Tommy Baldwin and Warry Ruhl.

Future Teachers Meet to Practice

By LEE MARSHALL and JUDY RASKIN Special Writers

Seven Junior High Future Teachers Association members invaded the B. Conant elementary school on May 17. The girls, including Barbara Nunn, Mary Vogt, Julia Shaw, Jill Wahl, Judy Beckin, Sara Peterson and Polly Tompkins, left school at 12:30 p.m. and walked to the elementary school.

There, met by the principal, Mr. Lenko, the girls went to different classrooms where they enjoyed their initial experience of observing classroom techniques. The girls even got a chance to lend their assistance to a few confused students.

FTA members are looking forward to their next experience of this type which is now in the planning stages. Next time, the girls will try their luck in conducting class by themselves.

RESULTS of next year's 10th grade class officer elections are as follows: From the state of Kim Kelson, On Hamilton and Roger Wollin, Don is the new president, our vice president, Marguerite Hyde, was one of three candidates, including Dick Hays and Sandy Bynon.

Secretary Cindy Skatsky was on a slate including Pat Lack and Janet Oros.

From nominees Ed Anderson, Kris Potts and Gail Aho, Ed was elected treasurer.

GIRLS' INTRAMURAL softball began last Tuesday night. Teams were organized and may begin after one practice was cancelled because of lack of playing space. The winning team of the tournament will receive awards.

To Teach Piano At Kingswood

Miecha Kottler will teach piano at Kingswood School Cranbrook three days a week during the 1961-62 school year. It has been announced by Miss Marion Goodale, headmistress.

Official pianist and soloist for the Detroit Symphony, Mr. Kottler has been musical director of Radio Station WWJ for the past 38 years. He is also well-known as an organist.

KOTTLER WILL take the position which has been held since 1934 by Miss Grace Emery. Miss Emery, who is retiring, plans to continue teaching at her home. In addition to serving as Kingswood's piano instructor, Mr. Kottler will retain all his usual teaching, radio and performing commitments.

Awards Presented At Athletic Banquet

By VEE VOLKER Special Writer

The eighth annual Girls' Athletic Association Awards Banquet, entitled "Around the World With Sports," was held May 17 at Devon Gables.

The presentation of trophy awards highlighted the evening. Receiving individual sports trophies were Karen Domes for archery and Sue Monroe and Barb Fish for basketball.

Members of the Monday Bowling League receiving trophies were Jean Yohes and Jean Van Loan for high games; Sally Kelly for high series and Sue Tiedman for the most improved bowler.

Awards for the Thursday afternoon league were presented to Dawn Martin and Sue Monroe for their high averages; Linda Wheeler for her high game and high series and Chris Ryan for the most improved bowler.

This year, as in previous years, the most important feature of the dance was the decorations. Chairman Virginia Grison organized subcommittees, which took charge of the various areas in the gym.

Decorations in the lobby were done by Francie Quillian. The mountain was designed and built by Bill Schwab. Taking care of the bandstands was Greg Frontier.

The students enjoyed dinners and early morning breakfasts after the splendor of the dance.

SINGING IS VOCAL arrangements for a large audience were members of the Seaholm choir during the annual spring concert. Under the direction of Mr. Victor Ulrich, the 84 member group sang spirituals, folk tunes as well as popular songs.

Incidental soloists included Doug Ward and Pat Smith.

Marian High School Plans Art Show, Choral Concert

On Sunday evening, Marian High School will exhibit its talents in a truly cultural affair. The "Night of the Arts" will begin with an art show at 6:30 p.m., displaying the work of talented students and featuring art pupils demonstrating various techniques of art work for the public.

At 8 the Marian High School, under the direction of Sister Georglyn, will present concert. Several solos and extra features will add variety to the evening's concert.

Refreshments will be served after the concert. The public may attend.

B'ham Schools

Will Offer Summer Class

The Birmingham Schools will offer a program of summer courses for high school credit this year for those students who need or wish to repeat work, and for those who wish to work and who are qualified to take advance credit.

Summer school is open to residents and non-residents in grades seven through twelve. Grades will be sent to the appropriate schools at the conclusion of the session.

The location of the summer school will be Seaholm High School, Birmingham. Classes will be in session from 8 to 12 noon daily from June 19 to August 11. One unit courses meet for four hours; one-half unit courses meet for two hours daily.

COUNSELORS at the various schools are in a position to advise parents concerning summer work for a given student and should be contacted, particularly where advance work is involved.

Students may register from May 16 to June 19 at the attendance office at Seaholm from 8 to 5 daily. Late registration will be permitted during the first three days of summer school, June 19 to 21.

Courses offered include algebra, general mathematics, geometry, English, French, Latin, Spanish, modern European, general science, civics, international relations, world and United States history, modern Europe, notebook typing, and non-credit courses' reading improvement, reading and study skills, remedial reading and field biology.

TUITION SHOULD be paid to the Birmingham Board of Education at the time of registration. A book deposit, collected at registration, is refunded when the books are returned in reasonable condition. No tuition refunds will be made after June 23.

Tea, Art Show Fetes Mothers

Field Hills.

Students at Kingswood School Cranbrook honored their mothers and other members of their families on Mother's Day with an annual tea and student art show. The show is open to the public through Sunday.

Winning entries in the art show were announced, following judging by Rosay Di Marco, art director for Lou Maxon advertising agency; and Marianne Strongell Hammarstrom and Berthold "Max" Schiweitz, art teachers at Kingswood School.

First place winners in the weaving division were Madge Havens, Orchard Lake; Kathleen Severn, Birmingham; Sheridan Strickland, Bloomfield Hills; Dorothy and Patricia Wilson, Clarkston; Winn Lyon, Birmingham; and Patricia Marsh, Bloomfield Hills.

First PRIZES for ceramics went to Susan Fuchs, Huntington Woods; Mary Kerr, Birmingham; Marsha Hoffman, Oak Park, and Edith Schaefer, Detroit.

Winning first in the life drawing division for the second year in a row was Alice Bushong of Traverse City. Anita Manhart, Birmingham, was given the first award for graphics.

General art first places were won by Anne Marie Oaman, Chesterton, Ind.; Lesley Lind, Miami Beach, Fla.; Dorothy Wilson, Clarkston; Marilyn Mauck, Bloomfield Hills, and Mary Affleck, also of Bloomfield Hills.

'Highlander' Gets FEPC Award

An award of special merit was given to Stephanie Okun, Detroit, for her scale model of a renovated Detroit City Hall.

Public visiting hours are weekdays, 4:15 to 5:30 p.m. and Sunday, 2 to 4:45 p.m.

Seaholm High School placed among three Detroit area high schools selected today by the Michigan FEPC as winners in its statewide high school newspaper editors awards contest.

An article in Seaholm's school paper, "The Highlander," rated among the best from 11 participating schools.

SUE McCABE, author of the article, will accept the award for her school at the 34th annual Michigan Inter-scholastic Press Association luncheon Friday at the University of Michigan.

The awards contest resulted from a one-day Detroit Civil Rights conference, sponsored by the commission in March, on which the high school editors later reported in their school newspapers.

Copies of the paper's coverage was turned to the commission conference for judging.
