Earn Safety Pennant

BEVERLY HILLS—Students at Our Lady Queen of Martyrs School were awarded a green safety pennant last week for going 30 days without any child involved in a traffic accident. Present for the event were (from left) The Rev. Fr. Lucian Herby, pastor; Michigan State Police Trooper Larry Miller; James Masiak, co-captain of the safety patrol; Mother Miriam Clare, principal; Jim Smith, captain; and Cynthia Dolan, captain of the service squad. The pennant will fly at the school unless an accident should occur. Then it would be taken down for 30 days. If the Queen of Martyr students go the whole year without a mishap, they will win a perfect safety award.

Mental Health Green School PTA Topic

WEST BLOOMFIELD—The Green School PTA meeting tonight will feature a panel discussion moderated by the School Principal, Mary Barnes.

Panel members, Leon Hall, psychologist with the Oakland County Board of Education; Herbert Mueller, case worker from Family Services of Oakland County; and Dr. Everett Gustafson will present various aspects of "Mental Health and the Elementary School Child."

Marian Mothers To Meet Monday

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The Bloomfield Hills High School Mothers Club will hold its second meeting of the year at 8 p.m. Monday in the school auditorium. Marian Mothers will meet at Lincoln and Lahser, Bloomfield Township.

After a brief business meeting, the Archbishop's discussion panel on racial relations will be presented by Mrs. Thomas Divine, program chairman.

Debaters to Attend Tournament at Alma

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The Bloomfield Hills High School debate squad will attend the Alma College fourth annual high school debate tournament at Alma on Saturday. One hundred and fifty representatives will attend from 24 high schools representing the entire state of Michigan.

Clarence C. Slocum, debating coach from Bloomfield High, will accompany debaters Kenneth Anchor, Carl Becker, Janis Adams and James St. John. Timekeepers Bob Smith and Dick Gardner have been invited to attend the tournament at Alma.

Christmas Workshop

WEST BLOOMFIELD—The New England Estates WNGFA met last week for a Christmas workshop at the home of Mrs. Charles Peterson of Newland Drive. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. A. W. Bickley and Mrs. Henry Brown.

Time

London-born Mrs. Graham says, "The family all used to have dinner here on the holiday but now there are too many. Last year we had an all-day buffet supper—this year, it looks like it might be just coffee and cookies."

Graham enjoys woodworking and has made several attractive pieces of furniture for his wife, including a coffee table and china cabinet. The latter houses a 112-piece set of china sent by the Graham's younger son when he was in service.

"My husband loves to putter around the house," Mrs. Graham says. "I swear he's had every door in the place off its hinges since we moved here."

S'field Lions Club To Sponsor Play To Benefit Blind

SOUTHFIELD—The Southfield Lions Club will sponsor "The Drunkard," a melodrama presentation, beginning Nov. 16 at Don Lee's Golden Nugget, Eight Mile and James Couzens.

The play will be presented nightly at 9:30 except Sundays. Only the first nine performances will be sponsored by the group, the proceeds will benefit the club's program to aid the blind.

W. B'field Home Damaged by Smoke

WEST BLOOMFIELD—Extensive smoke damage, estimated by firemen at about $2,000, was caused by a fire that broke out Thursday morning of last week at the home of William M. Lovell, 2720 Lone Pine Road.

Firemen believed the fire was caused when cleaning supplies in a closet ignited.

S'field High Pupils Govern City for Day

SOUTHFIELD—Southfield High senior Don Glush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Glush, 17350 Silver Maple, Southfield, will be the mayor of Southfield on Monday.

Glush was elected to the one-day post by members of the school's government classes as part of the Optimist Club's annual "Youth in Government Day."

Other students elected to city posts are Spydelle Becker, city clerk; Sandra Dronkowski, treasurer; Wally Kopec, judge; Ed Lundberg, assistant judge; and Cheryl Commons, Jane Herrick, Bonnie Lutz, Don Manderfeld, Cheryl Reimer, Cheryl Schroeder and Ginna Waldorf, councilmen.

OTHER CITY POSTS to be filled by appointment are the city administrator, attorney, assessor, planner, police chief, fire chief, building commissioner, and commissioner of water and public works.

The day will begin for the new officials with an assembly at the high school where they will be honored by the Optimist Club. The group will also tour Southfield, attend a tea at the home of a councilman, be taken to dinner and visit the city council meeting in the evening.

Lathrup to Get Residents' Gift Of Yule Tree

SCHOOL and decorated to provide Lathrup with its Christmas tree this year.

A permanent tree has been planted to replace the city tree that died after planting a year ago. The city was allowed credit on the dead tree bringing the net cost to $25 for the new 18-foot tree.
