State Level Citizens' Workshop Set for Nov. 29

Final plans for the first Citizens' Workshop for Community Planning in Michigan are announced today by Paul N. Averill, publisher of The Birmingham Eccentric and chairman of the planning committee.

The workshop will be held in conjunction with the 47th annual conference of the Michigan Welfare League on Nov. 29 at the Peninsula Hotel and Civic Auditorium in Grand Rapids.

The workshop for Community Planning is a new feature this year of the Michigan Welfare League Conference. It is designed for the person interested in working to make his community a better place in which to live.

The workshop will give the citizen of Michigan an opportunity to better train and inform himself for service in community planning.

OPENING SESSION speaker will be Clinton E. Stryker, president of Maysted Products of Michigan. Stryker is also chairman of the Advisory Committee of Community Planning of the United Counties of Michigan and Councils of America.

Stryker's talk will be a presentation of the "why" and "what" of community planning. The problems that face our complex society will be noted and whether we are planning to meet or not present day and future problems.

Rabbi Maurice Davis of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation, a board member of the Indianapolis Area Council for Community Services, will present the closing session of the meeting.

The group will spend most of the day in a round table discussion of community problems and plans of towns and cities of various sizes in Michigan.

Over 1,200 Michigan citizens are expected to attend the Michigan Welfare League Conference.

A group of lawyers will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Birmingham Community House to organize an Oakland County chapter of the National Association of Claimants' Counsel of America.

NACCA is an association of plaintiff's lawyers, organized to improve the administration of justice by representing and furthering the interests of injured persons.

David F. Beck, 928 Clark, Birmingham, of Dietele and Roberts law firm in Pontiac, is co-chairman of the group.

There'll Be Dirt Aplenty From 12 Toun

Anybody interested in the latest dirt?

There'll be plenty available once construction of the Twelve Town Drain gets started.

Property owners are invited to dig in to the nearly one million cubic yards of soil — primarily subsoil — that will be removed to make room for the pipes and barrels of the drainage system.

Serving as go-between, for people seeking fill and those seeking to get rid of it will be the office of Ashton J. Best, Twelve Town coordinator.

His office phone number is LI 7-1195.
