By PAM FARLOW
Special Writer

As in previous years, the junior class is again selling candy for the purpose of the sales is to help pay J-Hop and senior expenses. For each pound of candy sold, the student receives credit. Each student is expected to sell approximately 15 pounds of candy.

Mr. Ulrich, head advisor of sales, has ordered 8,600 pounds of candy. Selling days for the candy are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and also Nov. 27 and 28. The candy will be delivered to Seaholm on Dec. 8, and from there delivered to the buyers by the students.

TEACHER-ADVISORS include Mr. Gabel, Mr. Harris, Mr. Klein, Mr. Smith, Mr. VanTracht and Mr. Meade. Student homeroom representatives are Marilyn Mitchell, Jan Ahern, Kay Tibbits, Sue Welsch, Nancy Fortman, Linda Kerley, Vicki Kive, Melinda McCain, Tracy James, Ken McKenna.

The money is all counted and turned in and for another year the "Perch Drive" at Seaholm is just a memory. Seaholm's total intake this year was $1,139. The students received a total of $658.47, with the faculty and staff contributing $1,139. Several organizations contributed, among them Pep Club, Prosenium, Student Congress.

Seaholm's debate team has gotten off to a good start by winning three of its first four debates. Only one debate team that of Hazel Park, blocks Seaholm's drive to first place in the newly-formed Eastern Michigan League.

The debate team will begin its debating with the Detroit Metropolitan League and students are welcome to come and cheer the team on to what could be another victory.

The schedule for the Detroit Metropolitan League, which began at Kimball Monday continues with them through Friday.

From Nov. 27-Dec. 1, they debate at Troy; Dec. 4-Dec. 6, at Warren; and Jan. 8-12, at Southfield.

To raise money for their class fund, Seaholm sophomores are selling wrapping paper to residents of Birmingham. Two kinds of paper, all-occasion and Christmas, are being sold.

Three new members who have just moved into the Birmingham school district have been elected. These are Pam Gilbert, Tim Baehr and Tom Baehr.

MEMBERS in this year's Honor Society are Lynn Abernathy, Janet Brown, Craze Cooley, Emily Edwards, John Emmett, Dan Fox, Patsy Gordon, Frank Green, Virginia Griscorn, Vicki Hammer, Kay Heikkinen, Sally John, Jill Johnson and Elaine Kern.

On Friday, the first dance for the seventh grade was held. "Blind Off," it started immediately after school and lasted until 5 p.m.

This Friday's dance will be held for the eighth and ninth grades. It will be sponsored by the student council and will last from 7:00 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, the five students from Michigan State University who will be student teaching here next semester will come to visit the school.

Open house on Nov. 9 draw the attention of many parents. At this meeting the PTA conducted its membership drive and parents had an opportunity to meet their sons' or daughters' teachers and discuss the courses and the methods used in teaching these courses with them. Parents also viewed exhibits constructed by students.

The members of our radio club have been working every night after school, learning the Morse code and radio theory necessary to receive an amateur radio license from the Federal Communications Commission.

Under the direction of Mr. Jens and Mr. Rogers, the Radio Club also experiments with radio circuits. The faculty advisors help students work out problems they encounter working on their science fair projects.

This year's Radio Club officers are Pete Stevens, president; Roland Smith, vice president; Tony Hill, treasurer; and Dan Newman, secretary.

As a part of the assembly program on that day, the junior Latin class presented a selection from Vergil's Aeneid in the form of a verse choir.

After the program, a spiritual bouquet was presented to the Sisters on behalf of the entire student body.

All Marian dads are invited to a special open house tonight at 8 p.m. The purpose of this event is to acquaint each father with the type of education his daughter is receiving. Each father will follow his daughter's schedule and will have an opportunity to meet her teachers.

During the course of the evening, the fathers will get an idea of the content of the classes and will receive methods, goals. Questions will be answered at the end of each class.

Last week Marian High was honored to have as its guest, Sister Thomas Aquinas, the first principal of Marian. Sister came from the Motherhouse in Monroe to spend two days viewing our different classes.

STUDENTS from both the sophomore and junior English classes proved to their teachers how interested they were in American literature. The girls have been busy writing letters to poets whose work they have recently studied.

The letters asked for information about the life of the poet and some requested pictures. The aim of this project is to further each girl's knowledge of our American poets.

A happy and memorable day for the Sisters at Marian is Founders Day, which is celebrated annually on Nov. 10. The congregation of the Sisters, Servants of the Heart of Mary, was founded by Father Gillet in 1845, this year commemorates its 116th anniversary.

As a part of the assembly program on that day, the junior Latin class presented a selection from Vergil's Aeneid in the form of a verse choir.

After the program, a spiritual bouquet was presented to the Sisters on behalf of the entire student body.
