full cowboy regalia, guns and all when he was but four years old. Gun killings often involve teenagers whose parents permit their children to play with toy guns with which they are constantly "shooting" at one another in making believe robberies and hold-ups.

SO IGNORANT are the majority of parents of the principles of child psychology, that it never occurs to them that these boys, coupled with the suggestions implanted in their children's minds by a certain class of moving pictures, comics and TV shows in which someone is always being killed by gun-fire, are creating potential killers out of thousands of youngsters.

At a convention in Chicago, Captain Stege, retired Chicago police captain, spoke against the toy gun. He had made an investigation in jails and penitentiaries and found that all criminals had toy guns when children.

He believed that the toy gun was a potent force in creating criminals of the armed robbery and killer type.

MANY PARENTS are going to have much more to answer for than they suspect.

To imagine that they can gain Heaven and its glories for themselves while, at the same time, the children that they neglected to rightly train should suffer for crimes committed, largely as a result of parental neglect and ignorance, is a delusion.
