To preview the American Field Service Festival to be held May 5, there was a showing last week at the home of Mrs. Arbie Thalacker of Lowell Court, Bloomfield Hills. Admiring a hand made sweater are (left) Mrs. Richard Wallace of Lowell Court and Mrs. Henry Grikscheit of W. 14 Mile Rd.

International Flavor
To Highlight Festival

Mrs. A. G. Thacker of Lowell Court, Bloomfield Hills, opened her home last week for a preview showing of hand made sweaters of original design and a selection of Christmas gifts and stocking presents chosen from the International Gift Shop to be featured at the AFS's Festival.

FOR YEARS, Mrs. Thalacker has enjoyed her hobby of knitting. She has put her knitting talents to good use by organizing a collection of handknit sweaters for a booth at the AFS fair.

The festival will be held at Meadowbrook Farms, the home of Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson will be the honorary chairman.

She felt that a booth of unique and original sweaters would have much appeal for the many shoppers and viewers. So, all fall and winter, she has run her own "knitting shop" at her home on Lowell Court.

It's open house and coffee for the volunteer knitters who donate their time and energy knitting for AFS.
