

It was the immortal Shakespeare who said: "There is nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so." People who accomplish things, be it in business or one of the arts, create a mental pattern by and through which they bring about success. Yet what accomplishment is greater than that one achieve health and happiness? Is not this aided by correct mental patterns?

'Heidi' Due at Groves

Greenfield PTA members were so enchanted with the Vanguard Players' presentation of Heidi that they are bringing it to Groves High School for a Saturday matinee this weekend. The performance will begin at 2 p.m. in the school auditorium and a special surprise is in store for youngsters in the audience who are celebrating their birthday Dec. 2—yep, a surprise gift. The three 16-year-olds who portray Peter, Heidi's uncle and the heroine herself are respectively (from left), Steven Hack, Susan Barrett and William Feaster.

The scores from the Science Research Associates Achievement Tests, given to the eighth grade students at the beginning of the year, were recently released to the parents of the students at the home of Mr. Jns, the eighth grade counselor, announced the results.

On Friday night from 8 to 10 there will be a splash party for the ninth graders because of the pool's size, only 100 students will be allowed at this party and a small entrance fee will be required.

Our library has about 7,200 books this year for use by its 1,300 students and faculty members. This may sound like a lot of books but the library receives numerous complaints because many subjects are not covered.

Our library circulates anywhere from 1,000 to 1,500 books per week. The library also subscribes to 70 magazines, most of them having back issues for three years.

Back issues of "Newsweek," "U.S. News and World Report," and "Time" magazines are still needed.

The librarians who work with the 35 seventh, eighth, and ninth grade staff members are Miss Oliver and Mrs. Procter.

Miss Oliver has a BS degree and is working on a masters degree in library science education at Wayne University. Mrs. Procter has had six years of library experience working as a volunteer in elementary schools.

As Christmas nears, the season for Derby Bowling Club's first league also nears an end. Each year the Bowling Club has two leagues, one before Christmas and one after the first bowling season all the members of the club will choose a teacher for a team mate and these couples will play each other in a doubles tournament on Dec. 10.

If a boy bowls better than a 200 game, he is given a free pair of bowling shoes. So far, two boys have received this award: Steve Smith with a 202 game and Dick Ralph with a 201 game.

If a girl bowls a 175 game, she also may win a free pair of bowling shoes but no one has been able to do this yet.

On Nov. 15, Derby's Bowling League under the direction of Miss Jeanne bowled against Barnum's bowling league for the first time.

Marian High

The auditorium at Marian High was decorated in the theme of "Autumn Haze" for the junior dance held Friday. The girls and their escorts danced to popular records and to the music of Bob Reed and his band. Refreshments were served during the course of the evening.

The dance was the first social event of the year for the juniors. A junior seminar is on the agenda for early this spring.

"Winter Follies" was held on Wednesday for the sophomores and their date. This event has become an annual affair with each class.

The entire evening was planned by various committees headed by Michael Greiner, Judy Heiner, Joan Herrgott, Susan Mooney and Val Bostwick. Entertainment was provided by Mr. James Schulze, who is a regular at Marian's "Dad Nights."

An annual event at Marian is the "Christmas Drive" which officially begins each year with a "kick off" program. This year the program was given on Nov. 22 at an assembly for an art school.

A group of young children from St. George's parish in Detroit began the show with songs and dances. Following this the girls responsible for the drive, the Student Council and the Student Spiritual Council, sang a few songs and then spelled out the word "Christmas," giving it a special meaning to each letter.

This Christmas our 17 home rooms will supply a like number of families with toys and Christmas dinners.

ON EXHIBIT in the main corridor is a display by the sophomore art class with the caption "Kidlike Color Designs." This display illustrates children's book designs wrought from the imaginative talents of sophomore art students. An original poem accompanies each set of illustrations.

Three pictures of each subject are presented first in natural colors, then in complementary, and finally in analogous colors.

Everything from shaggy puppies and calico kittens to flying giraffes and dancing gingerbread men roam the bulletin board. Exhibitors are Pat Keenan, Pat Gasetti, Nancy Talpo, Susan Young, Joan Herrgott, Michael Greiner, Janet Johnson and Gretchen Schottler.

The junior class was second and the senior class was third.

This Saturday marks the date for the college board examinations. The tests will be given here at Bloomfield Hills High School and many juniors and seniors will be participating in them, both for practice and for real. The tests are given in two main categories. In the morning the scholastic aptitude tests are given. Consisting of two parts, the mathematical section and the literary section, this test is most often required of students for college admission. The achievement tests are given in the afternoon. These are given in a variety of subjects.
