Dems to Explore Con-Con Election

"What happened in the Con-Con election? Where do Democrats go from here?" These questions will keynote the October meeting of the Birmingham Democratic club Monday night.

John R. Dimitry, Highland Park Junior College instructor, will answer these questions in his address at 8 p.m. in the Birmingham House Motel.

"The Sept. 12 election brought out only the small, selective group which normally represents a high Republican vote," said Dimitry. This is one of four or five factors he will cite as being responsible for Democratic election losses.

THE POLITICAL science instructor, making his second appearance before the Birmingham group this year, will also discuss some concrete proposals which he claims would help make the Democratic party more attractive to the "selective group."

Dimitry, who has been a Highland Park instructor for seven years, holds a Bachelor's degree in history and a Master's degree in education.
